INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—A committee from Nashville, Tenn., waited upon Mr. Greeley at the Galt House, Louisville, Ky., at 7 o'clock this morning, and urged his acceptance of an invitation to proceed to their city during the ensuing week and address them on the political issues of the hour. Mr. Greeley declined the invitation on account of previous engagements, but observed that if he could possibly arrange it he would visit them before the October election. The refusal was received with some disappointment, but the invitation was pressed with more earnestness on the ground of political necessity. Ex-Gov. Henry S. Foote, on the part of the Committee, distinctly informed Mr. Greeley that in the interest of the coalition it was his duty, as it was an absolute necessity to visit Tennessee and Alabama. He considered Alabama as one of the doubtful States. The colored element there he represented as very strongly in favor of Grant, and so numerous were those who expressed dissatisfaction with Mr. Greeley's candidature that many on whom they counted to oppose the Administration were now determined to support it. The invitation has not been positively accepted, but it is not by any means likely that the modest "Sage" will forego any opportunity of receiving the adulation of the Southern Copperheads.

He left the Galt House for Jeffersonville, Indiana, in an open carriage. There were hardly twenty persons present when he departed, and no attempt was made to raise a cheer. He reached Jeffersonville at 9½ o'clock, where he was received by about 500 persons and escorted to the Burnet House. He held a formal reception, and graciously permitted a few of the young ladies present to give him a chaste kiss. Shortly afterward he appeared in the balcony of the hotel and spoke as follows:

MR. MAYOR AND CITIZENS OF JEFFERSONVILLE: I should be very inconsistent and ungrateful if my life had not been devoted, according to my best understanding, to the interests and welfare of the great laboring class out of which I have sprung, and to which I have always been committed. Beginning life as a laborer on a farm, going then into a mechanic's shop and learning my trade as a printer, I have devoted the rest of my subsequent life, first, to my own employment as printer and editor, and afterward to some extent as an humble, moderate farmer, as well, I feel that my sympathies should not have been otherwise than with the immense majority of mankind, who in all ages are required to subsist by their own manual industry. I have meant to be in my politics as in my business—the friend of labor. I may have made mistakes—who has not—in the politics which I thought best adapted to promote the interest of the working men. I may just as well have been mistaken as equally honest, equally earnest men who have advocated a different policy; but I know what my purpose was. I was, in the days of slavery, an enemy of slavery, because I thought slavery inconsistent with the rights, the dignity, the highest well-being of free labor. That might have been a mistake, but it was at any rate an earnest conviction. So when our great trouble came upon us, I was anxious first of all for labor, that the laboring class should be everywhere free men. I was anxious next that our country's unity might be preserved without bloodshed, if that were possible, by means of bloodshed, if that dire alternative should be forced upon us. My friends and neighbors, bloodshed is always a sad necessity, always a woful necessity, and he who loves his fellow-man must desire to make that necessity as short as possible, as brief as possible, to have the least amount of bloodshed possible, so that as soon as peace can be restored to efface as immediately as can be every trace, not merely of blood on the earth, but of vengeful feelings from the hearts of his fellow-man. Such has been the impulse of the course I have pursued. Throughout the last few eventful years my life has been an open book. All could read it. My thoughts have been given to the public warm and fresh, sometimes before an opportunity has been afforded for due consideration and correction; very often mingled with the thoughts of others which were not my own, but which it was very easy to attribute to me. No one who heard my utterances or listened to them in any way directly after the close of the war, when I pleaded for mercy, for magnanimity, for forbearance, for the speediest possible effacement of all sores and sorrows from the public mind, no one who heard me then can doubt where I should stand today; no one. My course has been plain and simple. Down with all manner of lawlessness and violence. [Applause.] If there is a Kuklux or other disturbance about, then down with it with a strong hand, (applause,) for mercy to them is quite different from mercy to the quiet, peaceable men of the country. Violence and lawlessness you must suppress speedily, energetically, earnestly, but, when it is suppressed, then forget wrath and remember mercy. I pleaded for universal amnesty. "What," say some, "were there no men who committed crimes during the war?" I say, if there were punish their crimes. Amnesty won't forbid that. If men committed murder during the civil war, whether on one side or the other; if they committed acts contrary to the laws of humane war, then I would punish them sternly for these acts, and I would have done it long ago, for every such act, for every outrage against the laws of war is as black a crime as though it were committed in time of peace. Punish those men always, but for all those who were simply our antagonists in that great struggle, I have no feeling of vengeful wrath after they laid down their arms and complied with all the reasonable requirements of the Government and of public safety. For security and peace anything; for vengeance and wrath, nothing, nothing. Such has been the feeling, such the conviction that I cherished through the war and since the war. Now, I say, the time has come for universal amnesty. So that no human being shall feel that because he was on what I and you regard as the wrong side in our great struggle he shall be proscribed, disfranchised, or subjected to any penalty for it. The time has come when we should proclaim that amnesty. Having secured the rights of every black man in the country, so that he is just as good as you or I, we should give the white man a chance too. [Applause.] Let us say to those who were mistaken, who were on the wrong side: "Fellow-countrymen, you were on the wrong side; you undertook to divide a country that ought not to be divided. You were mistaken, but that is all over; the country is re-united, are all free now; let us make you free also. Let us all together, every one of us, be citizens of this country, with equal liberties and privileges so far as men can give them. If God has imposed disabilities, we can't remedy that. We can only say the law is just as good for the colored people as for me or you. Their standing in Courts is the same as yours; their oath is the same; let every one tell his story and let the jury, giving each story due weight, determine which is correct, and let not color entitle to favor or respect." This is the ground for which I have fought, not to have a subject class, a proscribed class, an alien class, an outlaw class in the country; but to have man stand on an equal and lawful platform of our common nationality—free citizens, free to exercise such facilities as God has given to him for his own sustenance and for the upbuilding of his family and fortunes. This seems to me statesmanship. I know it is humanity. I feel that it is patriotism that we should forget and remember no more, harshly and bitterly, the conflicts of the past, as we are henceforth to be one American people, and each shall have every chance, so far as the Constitution and the laws give him. They say few are proscribed, but the many are proscribed in the few. Whenever you say to me, "Your Captain shall be punished for what you and he did," I am punished with him. I feel the blows inflicted on him. The ring that fastens him to the dungeon eats into my heart as well as his. No part of that great people who struggled against us in the South will feel that they are entirely pardoned and restored to citizenship so long as any of their leaders or chiefs in the struggle are punished for the common sin or error or whatever it is. So, then, I stand before you an advocate of the rights and principles of universal amnesty. So long as there was any quarrel about impartial suffrage I fought for it. Now there are none to be enfranchised but some thousands who are disfranchised. Four years ago the Republican National Convention resolved that these disabilities should speedily cease. I have waited in patience four years and they don't cease. I now demand that when the people in every State where the matter has been discussed have said, "Let all disabilities be abolished; let disfranchisement pass away; let us all be united," that amnesty and good feeling be restored, for we all stand on one common ground. This is all I would say to you. I have little time to be among you, but I do appeal to Indiana, the advanced hope of the free States; I appeal to her to let her voice be heard in her coming election on the side of national reconciliation and universal amnesty. Other States will hear her. Other States will heed her. If that is her judgment, let no false pride, let no party attachment, let no devotion to leaders, however able, however good, let nothing stifle that voice; let it echo across the land a sign, a note of peace and gladness; let the disfranchised hear it as a token of good cheer and good will; let the people everywhere read and learn that Indiana has declared for the restoration of the last American to the common privileges of American citizenship, and the country will rejoice that the reign of proscription is over, and that the people have declared that all the people shall be free. [Applause.]

In the course of an address delivered at Columbus, Mr. Greeley said:

Everything I have seen and heard since I crossed the mountains cheers and encourages me. I have faith in the good people of Indiana. [Applause.] I do not believe they can be bribed out of their convictions, and I am quite certain they cannot be bought. So I feel certain that your verdict will be given in the coming election for equal rights to all men, including those of our fellow-citizens now disfranchised. So believing, so trusting, I feel so sure of your verdict, so sure it will be given right, that I shall listen on the night of the 8th of October next without a fear, without a doubt, with an earnest, confident trust that Indiana will take her place in the van of the great column of States that moves on in defense of constitutional freedom. [Applause.]

ARRIVAL IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Mr. Greeley arrived in Indianapolis at 2½ P. M. today, and was received by a large crowd. Shortly after 3 o'clock he proceeded to the Board of Trade, where he delivered an address on agriculture, in the course of which he said:

MR. CHAIRMAN: I hear that you have been told that he who now addresses you is a fanatical advocate of the resumption of specie payment. Such is not the fact. I do indeed believe that we might have resumed specie payment several years ago, when we had one hundred and twenty-five million dollars in the Treasury, mainly gold, and an income exceeding our current expenditures by one hundred millions per annum. We might have resumed with less difficulty and less danger of failure than the banks encountered when they resumed in 1838, and at other times. But the opportunity was allowed to pass because resumption was deemed undesirable, and since then we have drifted further and further away from the point at which resumption was practicable. Our national income is diminished; so is our surplus in the Treasury; while the premium on gold has advanced. In short, we are not on the road to specie payments, but are traveling the other way. Hence I say, use the money which lies dead in the Treasury, tempting its custodians to stock gambling, embezzlement and peculation, to reduce the public debt and diminish the interest accruing thereon. It was well to hoard gold while we professed to be on the point of resuming specie payment; now that we have postponed that purpose, all excuse for hoarding has vanished. Let the Government pay its debts so far as its means will go, and thus liberate the money it now uselessly hoards to invigorate the business and industry of the country. Such, gentlemen, are my ideas of finance, and having stated them, I will relieve you from further attention.

At 9 o'clock a mass-meeting and torch-light procession was held in the State House yard. Mr. Greeley was introduced by Mr. Dan Voorhees, and spoke as follows:

PEOPLE OF INDIANA: This distinguished gentleman who has just addressed you has pronounced the two watch-words of the present canvass. The first is reconciliation, and the second is purification. I have spoken heretofore on reconciliation. I propose to speak tonight in the interests of purification. Our country has recently encountered and vanquished the peril of disunion. She is today confronted with the deadly peril of corruption. The cancer is eating into her vitals whereof the essence is purchased legislation, bribed public servants, and general betrayers of the highest trusts. These are elements. Let me endeavor to illustrate her present peril by simply recounting to you undenied and undeniable facts which illustrate the history of legislation by Congress with reference to the Union Pacific Railway. I would fix your attention on this as a sample of the means whereby scheming, selfish, avaricious men contrive to glut their own greed, while they talk of public interest and public beneficence. Ten years ago Congress passed an act chartering the Union Pacific Railway. That act was intended and calculated to secure the connection, by railway, of our Pacific with our Atlantic States. A noble purpose, and one which cannot but be strongly recommended, as it was certain that private capital would not build a road through two thousand miles of mountain and desert, Congress resolved to treat that enterprise generously. In the first place, the right of way through the public lands was granted, with the right also to take material from any part of the public domain. Next, a large grant was made in aid of the Pacific Railroad, and thirdly, bonds of the Government to the extent of over $25,000 per mile were loaned to the Company in aid of this project, and the first mortgage on the railroad taken therefor. It was thus provided that the road should be built with the public money, for public uses by the charter of the Company. After a few years this project having passed into the hands of capable, grasping men, some of whom were members of Congress, a new step was taken. Congress was induced to authorize a new loan in aid of this project, and an equal amount with the Government. That is to say, to the extent of at least 25,000 per mile, and this new loan was authorized to take precedence of the Government loan. In other words Congress relinquished our first mortgage on the railroad and took a second mortgage, authorizing the Company to make a first mortgage of equal amount ahead of ours. Now then our security was destroyed in this way, so that our investment was to be of no avail. In a little time a private Company was somewhere chartered, entitled the Credit Mobilier of America, and that private company or ring was composed of a lot of active members of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, some of them Members of Congress. No list of stockholders of this Credit Mobilier was ever published, or can be obtained, but these gentlemen proceeded to make contracts virtually with itself; that is to say, the same gentlemen, officiating as officers of the Union Pacific Railroad, contracted with themselves as officers of the Credit Mobilier of America to construct the Union Pacific Railroad at enormous prices, which absorbed both the bonds loaned by the Government and the private loan of the Company of equal amounts, which was made a first mortgage on all the property of the road. In other words, these gentlemen contracted with themselves to pay themselves twice the fair cost of entirely building and equipping the road, and building the road with the proceeds of the bonds loaned them by the Government, they proceeded to divide among themselves the other bonds, equal to the amount for which Congress had made a mortgage on the entire road, and by these means twenty or thirty millions of dollars were divided among the parties, and all that money so divided, we are called to pay. They divided the bonds and built the road with the Government bonds which were a second mortgage on that Company. Now you see these same gentlemen who engineered through Congress the project of making the road cost double what it should cost, and making half that cost a private dividend among themselves, these gentlemen now appear before Congress for a still further advantage. Congress had thus far reserved to the country such sums as the railroad earned by carrying the mails and the provisions, &c., for the army of the United States; but the Company said, "No." They said, "We want you to reserve half the money you earn, and pay over half of the money to us;" consequently, in March, 1871, by an amendment fostered on an army appropriation bill the Secretary of the Treasury was instructed to pay these companies half the money they earned by carrying the mails and army stores, and only reserving one-half of those earnings toward the payment of the interest semi-monthly occurring on the bonds due the United States. So that on this day the people of this country are paying some millions per annum out of their hard savings for interest on these bonds loaned to the Pacific Road; paying this money as interest to meet the vast sums divided among these gentlemen, among themselves as dividends of the Credit Mobilier of America. Now, gentlemen, I do not say what individuals have received this money, but I do say that by corrupt legislation in the way of individual gains thirty or forty million dollars has been saddled on the country, an unjust and unrighteous debt. [Applause.] We are called upon to pay the interest now every six months, and after thirty years must pay the principal; and all this because the men who were at the same time legislators and corporators corruptly used their legislative powers to fasten this immense debt on the people of the United States. Now, then, I stand here, fellow-citizens, to insist that the legislation of your country, National and State, needs purification, and that the leading men in our Government, the men who are speakers and the members of the Committee on Pacific Railway and other railways, that these men should be called to justice. [Applause.] We need reconciliation; we need purification, and this not less than the others. The letter of Oakes Ames, the undenied and undeniable letters of a member of Congress, and a corporator, and a large stockholder in the Union Pacific Railroad, whereof he was lately President; these letters incontestibly prove corruption, and corruption in high places. Such legislation as I have briefly exposed to you could not have been accomplished, could not have been effected, without the connivance and support of men high in authority, and these facts assure you that the purification is generally needed.

Mr. Greeley then referred to his old hobby of amnesty, and concluded by expressing his conviction that Indiana would support the sore-head movement.

Mr. Greeley will speak to-morrow evening in Cleveland, Ohio.

Gen. Hawley's Answer to Greeley's Slander on the Pittsburg Convention.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—By dint of diligent scraping of several counties, the Greeleyites managed to give their candidate a respectable demonstration, and Mr. Greeley is now, doubtless, reposing in his room at the Bates House in the pleasant conviction that he is certain of Indiana. This demonstration, however, had no effect on the sentiment of the State, and Republicans are as confident as ever of their ability to beat the mongrels.

The meetings today have been very large and enthusiastic. Senator Morton addressed an immense crowd at Waterloo. Another great meeting was held at Greensburg, where Hon. Will Cumback presided, and speeches were made by Hon. Jos. R. Hawley, of Connecticut, and Gen. Ben Harrison, of Indiana. Both were very powerful, and upon the subject of Greeley's Pittsburg harangue Gen. Hawley said:

As one of the signers of the call for the Pittsburg Convention, its temporary President, and a member of the Committee on Resolutions, I have a word to say in reply to Mr. Greeley. Coming to Pittsburg the day after that Convention, exasperated by its success, he said: "A large number of persons were collected here at a vast expense, with the single purpose of rekindling the bitterness and hatred, the animosity and antipathies, the fears and exultations of civil war, for the advantage of a political party." Twice he made these charges in one brief speech. I speak deliberately, four days after I first read these remarks; I speak with a full sense of what I am saying when I say the charge is infamously and malignantly false. I appeal to the thirty thousand soldiers who were there. No assembly of Pennsylvania Friends was ever more generously disposed. We disowned emphatically the spirit of revenge, declared the war closed at Appomattox, and, with "malice toward none and charity for all," extended the right hand of fellowship to all who accept the results of the war and obey the Constitution and laws, enthusiastically welcomed the letter from Confederate soldiers, and spent over two days in a love-feast of good-fellowship and patriotism. Not a word of our resolutions, not a syllable of our speeches, not a cry or cheer justified the slanders of Mr. Greeley.

This emphatic rebuke met the unbounded approbation of the 2,000 Republicans present, showing how universal is the refutation of this slander by the people.

Gen. Logan, Gen. Hawley, Gen. Woodford and Hon. J. M. Langston, Hon. William Williams, Hon. Will Cumback and other distinguished speakers are in the city to-night on the way to fill appointments to-morrow and the succeeding day. The work goes on and will, until Greeley is astonished by a majority against him in October too decisive to be misunderstood. E. C.

NEW-YORK.

Spontaneous Reception of Senator Wilson at Elmira—Over Five Thousand People Present.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 23.—It having been learned about noon today that Hon. Henry Wilson would pass through Elmira on his way to the great mass-meeting at Towanda, Penn., preparations were hastily made for his reception. He came in at 8 o'clock this evening, and was met at the depot by the Elmira Union Invincibles, with torches and music, and escorted to the Wigwam, which was densely crowded with people. Mr. Wilson there addressed the meeting for over an hour in a powerful speech whose good effect will be felt in this city and the county. Gen. A. S. Diven also briefly addressed the meeting.

After the meeting Senator Wilson was entertained at the residence of J. M. F. Slee, Esq.

In numbers no greater meeting was ever held in Elmira. It was gathered in three hours, without any notice whatever, except a few handbills and by word of mouth. There were at least 5,000 in the Wigwam and outside vainly seeking admittance.

Senator Wilson goes to Towanda in the morning, where an immense mass-meeting is to gather from the northern counties of Pennsylvania.

MUTINY ON SHIPBOARD.

A British Bark Puts Into Newport, R. I., with a Disorderly Crew—The Ringleader to be Tried.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 23.—The British bark Hesperus, Capt. Waycott, of St. Andrews, from Providence, R. I., for Picton, put into this port this morning, and her Captain came ashore and complained to the Custom-house authorities that his crew were mutinous and had refused duty. An officer was immediately dispatched to the vessel, and when he had the crew drawn up in line he asked each if he was willing to do duty. They all answered "Yes." One of the seamen, however, who was the ringleader and the cause of the disturbance, was brought ashore by the officers and lodged in jail. He will be tried before the United States Commissioner.

INSURANCE FAILURES.

The Andes Insurance Company and its Agents.

Bankruptcy of Messrs. Prindle and Mangam—Other Companies Interested—What the Officers Say.

The special agent of the Andes Insurance Company of Cincinnati, H. K. Lindsay, who arrived in the City recently, is still waiting to receive mailed instructions from the Company which will direct his future action. His orders when about to start here were to cancel all policies presented, and draw on the Company for the outstanding premiums. These policies are directed to be presented at No. 153 Broadway, where the Company has another agency, and where the business of the Company has been transacted since the failure of Pringle & Mangam, its former agents. The agent of the Company at this place, Mr. Temple, said to a TIMES reporter, yesterday, that the Company would undoubtedly send sufficient money on to pay all the return policies at once, rather than subject the agents to the trouble of forwarding them one by one. He said that the Company have not stopped business, but simply stopped issuing policies. He also stated that it would be greatly to the advantage of the Company, rather than to their detriment, were all the insurers to cancel their policies at short rate; so much so, in fact, that it would not take one-third of the amount ($974,449 23) which the Superintendent of Insurance in Ohio requires as a reinsurance fund to cancel all liabilities. Many preferring to hold policies in a concern against whose solvency there can be no doubt have applied for cancellation, while others have retained theirs, trusting to the strength of the concern. Mr. Temple says that the company has been unfortunate, and not mismanaged. As soon as the detailed instructions previously referred to shall have arrived, an official notice will be issued.

The reporter also called at the office of Prindle & Mangam, No. 150 Broadway, and found things in a delightful state of confusion. The front offices, hitherto occupied by the firm, were unoccupied, and planks and pieces of timber were braced against the doors on the inside, rendering ingress by them impossible. Two keepers from the Sheriff's office were guarding the back door by virtue of an attachment issued on petition of the proprietors of a newspaper for a debt which Prindle and Mangam had contracted for printing and advertising. The back offices were occupied by the agents of the North Missouri Insurance Company and the Alps Insurance Company, both of which Companies had Prindle and Mangam as their agents in New-York. Mr. John T. Clements, General Agent of the North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Ohio, was there and gave a statement substantially as follows: That about ten days ago he received a telegram advising him to come to New-York and look after the interests of the company. He did so, and found that Prindle & Mangam were conducting their business operations in a very loose and, as it appeared to him, extravagant style. After becoming convinced of the necessity for immediate action he called upon the members of the firm to give him a bond which is generally required between insurance companies and their agents for the prompt and safe sending of all moneys received by them for premiums, less commissions. This Prindle & Mangam promised to do when they assumed the agency in New-York for the Company, but put off from time to time. As their accounts due the Company reached the sum of $27,000, it was deemed advisable to have the matter settled in some way at once, and as the firm could not give the bond, Mr. Clements asked for the books of the concern, which were turned over to him. He found that a large portion of the indebtedness to the Company had not been received from the policy-holders, and thereupon issued a circular, announcing that the agency with Messrs. Prindle & Mangam was canceled.

Mr. Clements further said that he did not believe the Company would suffer materially from the failure of its agents in this City, as he expected to receive most of the money still due himself. Parties outside of the office, however, speak in less assuring tones of the condition of the Company. Mr. Clements promises an exact statement of the indebtedness of Prindle & Mangam as soon as his accountant has finished the examination of the books of the concern.

Mr. Thos. F. Gooderich, the Secretary of the Alps Insurance Company, was also in the office, probing into the affairs of his Company in connection with Messrs. Prindle & Mangam. He came to New-York on a telegram sent in consequence of the action of the North Missouri Insurance Company in the premises. He found that the firm was indebted to the Alps Insurance Company about $6,000, which he claims is fully covered by a bond given some time since bearing the signatures of responsible parties. He took the books of the concern used in the transactions with his Company, and is now in the back office carrying on the business and looking after the interests of the insurance company until further orders.

Messrs. Prindle and Mangam were also agents for the "Allemania" Insurance Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, but as yet no person has arrived to look after the interests of the Company. It is said that Prindle & Mangam are more heavily in debt to this company than to any other upon their list, the amount being placed as high as $40,000, but there is as yet no evidence of the truth of the rumor. It is also said that the Allemania holds a bond which will partially, if not wholly, cover its losses. The reasons which led to the failure are alleged to be extravagance in living, and lack of economy in running the business. The liabilities of the firm are large, but the assets will cover a considerable portion of the indebtedness.

Uncle Daniel and Erie.

Erie was the great feature in the stock market yesterday, the difference between cash and regular stock being increased from ⅛ per cent. at the opening to 3¾ per cent. before the closing of the Exchange.

This fresh corner in Erie is said to be the result of a negotiation between Daniel Drew and a German banker in this City. The latter held a large portion of the Erie stock which is now in this City, and was one of the parties chiefly instrumental in the formation of the corner which oppressed the Street for the few days previously. Uncle Daniel bought out his share of the corner, and has since been operating it upon his own hook. Yesterday morning, it is said, he went to Wall-street early and gave his brokers orders to call in the stock which he had outstanding, recently loaned, and then, after issuing these orders, drove away up-town, where he remained all day to be rid of the importunities of borrowers. There were a great many visitors to his office during the day, but they were turned away with the remark, "Gone out for the day." In the Exchange the excitement waxed hot, large lines of stock being defaulted; over 15,000 shares were bought in under the rules, the parties, in many cases, who were short, being positively unable to get the stock to deliver at any price. Under the circumstances Uncle Daniel's absence was very generally deplored.

Rumors were rife in the Street of a renewal of the gold and currency stringency today.

Tammany's Quarrels.

The reorganized Smelling Committee appointed by the Tammany Hall General Committee, to purify the General Committee of the adherents of Grant and Wilson and James O'Brien, met at Tammany Hall yesterday afternoon. It consisted of five persons—John Kelly, Chairman, Harry Genet, John Morrissey, Wm. Walsh and Andrew Jackson Plumb. The various delegations from the disaffected districts presented themselves for a hearing, and were given an audience with the Committee in turn. Action was taken only upon the Fourth and Eighth Assembly Districts. It was decided that a large number of the delegates from these districts should be "read out" by the Committee for their Non-Greeleyism and O'Brien predilections, and that the matter should be referred to the General Committee for final decision.

The contesting "nines" of the Third Assembly District, who after a consultation were still hopelessly divided, appeared before the Committee, and their case was postponed until today, as was also action upon the difficulties in the Seventeenth Assembly District.

Republican National Committee.

Ex-Gov. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Wm. E. Chandler were busily occupied last evening, at the National Committee Head-quarters, Fifth-avenue Hotel, answering correspondents. Two stenographers were kept employed by them. Gov. Morgan is confident of success in New-York State, and Secretary Chandler is well satisfied with the advices from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. Hon. Fred. Douglass, who called, says that the meetings he has addressed were very large and enthusiastic.

The eagle sent to Gov. Morgan from Vermont has been presented to the Central Park Museum.

Col. T. L. Dudley, Secretary of the Veteran's National Convention, is very ill, the result of his labors at Pittsburg. The official report of the proceedings of the Convention, prepared by Mr. Corridan, will soon be published.

Geo. A. Golden, of Massachusetts, President National Temperance Association, and Geo. A. Cole, American Annexation League, were callers at head-quarters.

CONSUL BUTLER.

The Truth About the Egyptian Missionaries—Prompt Action of the Government.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—On the 13th inst., the Tribune printed a letter from Rev. Mr. Lee, in which, among other things, it was charged that the Administration had refused to pay any attention to the complaint of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church against Consul Gen. Butler. The Chronicle, of this city, will, to-morrow, print a letter written by the Assistant-Secretary of State, Mr. Hale, in reply to a communication sent to the State Department on the subject, which shows that, so far from the President having paid no attention to the remonstrance, immediate steps were taken to investigate the entire case, and prompt action was taken immediately after all the facts in the matter were known. From Mr. Hale's letter it appears that the memorial of the Board of Foreign Missions, asking that "a commission be appointed to investigate the conduct and character of the Consul-General of Egypt," is dated Oct. 25, 1871; that it was immediately referred to the State Department, and that the Department itself had already anticipated the wish of the Committee, having on the 4th of September requested the Treasury Department to assign the conduct of the investigation to one of its own agents. The Secretary of the Treasury complied with the request on Sept. 5, and instructed Gen. Starring to make the investigation. Gen. Starring arrived in Egypt, Nov. 23, 1871, within less than a month after the Committee had waited upon the President. Mr. Hale then goes on to say: "The investigation in the opinion of Gen. Starring, required a journey to Khartoum, in Upper Egypt, and a considerable time was occupied in making it. His report was received in the course of the month of July in this year. On the 22d of that month, Mr. Butler was suspended from office by the President, and Mr. Beardsley was designated in his place. You will perceive, therefore, that Mr. Butler has not been retained in office for the past three years, as stated by Mr. Lee, but that his whole term in Egypt exceeds two years by only two months, and that the interval after the complaint of the Committee to the President, and his removal, or rather suspension, agreeably to the terms of the Tenure of Office act, was not two years, or more than two years, but less than nine months; and that it is incorrect to say that the report of Gen. Starring was suppressed for months until after the Philadelphia Convention, since the report was not received until after the Convention, and the removal was made within a fortnight after its receipt. Moreover, the first intimation made known to the Department of an intention on the part of the American missionaries in Egypt to seek the protection of another Consulate than that of the United States was contained in a letter from them, bearing date July 15, 1872, addressed to the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, by whose officers it was forwarded to the Department with a letter dated Aug. 19, which was received at the Department on the 27th of August, 1872. This letter was answered without delay, in a letter of which I inclose a copy, the terms of which, it was believed, would satisfy the missionaries that their intention need not be carried into execution. Mr. Lee is accordingly incorrect when he represents that the missionaries have now been forced after appealing more than two years in vain to the President for protection as American citizens, to seek naturalization and protection from the British Government. The communication of their intention in certain contingencies to seek a new nationality, bears date but a few days prior to the date of the suspension of Mr. Butler, and was, in point of fact, not received in this country until after the suspension had been made. The following letter, referred to in Mr. Hale's communication, affords additional evidence of the injustice with which the President has been treated in this whole matter:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, 1872.

Messrs. W. W. Burr, President; J. B. Dales, Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter, under date of 19th of August, covering a letter dated the 15th of the preceding month from Rev. C. Lansing and his associates, missionaries in Egypt, was received at this Department yesterday. You refer to a communication addressed by you to the President, under date of 25th of October, 1871, and by him referred to this Department. The receipt of this communication was acknowledged by my letter to you of the 31st of October. In that letter were mentioned the steps that had been taken for an inquiry into the matters which gave rise to your communication. You were informed that an agent of the Treasury Department had been appointed to make an investigation, and that when his report should be received it would be maturely considered in connection with other papers relating to the case. The course thus laid down has been followed, and the result has become known to the public through the usual channels of communication. The late Consul-General at Alexandria was suspended on the 23d of July, and Mr. Richard Beardsley was appointed in his place, and sailed from New-York for his post of duty during the following week. This statement of facts, it is believed, will dispose of the subject presented by the missionaries in Egypt, in their letter of the 15th of July, now brought to the attention of the Department.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant.
HAMILTOM FISH.

GOV. CURTIN.

His Position Defined—He Declares in Favor of a Bitter Opponent of the War for the Union.

SARATOGA, Sept. 21, 1872.

MY DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 11th inst., informing me of my nomination by the Liberal Republican State Committee as a candidate for delegate at large to the Constitutional Convention, and inclosing an address to the people of the State recommending my election, came duly to hand; but extreme illness prevented my reading the letter, or considering the subject, until now. I am still quite feeble, and unable to write without the aid of an amanuensis; but the near approach of the election, and the gravity of the issues, immediately affecting the honor and prosperity of Pennsylvania, to be decided in October, compel me to answer when my rest should be unbroken.

The nomination made by so many of the purest and best of the old representative Republicans of the State and presented to the people upon grounds which stand out in brave contrast with the demoralized political management now so sadly prevalent, is an appeal that I cannot refuse to respect. I therefore accept the nomination, and if it shall be ratified by the people, and health permits, I will discharge its duties with fidelity.

I had confidently expected, immediately upon my return home, to familiarize myself fully with the details of what I well understood in all general aspects touching the misrule of our Commonwealth under its present political control, and to speak my convictions at the earliest possible moment. While I cannot ever be indifferent in a Presidential contest, I felt that the regeneration of my native State, in the October election, was of paramount interest to the people in whose happiness and greatness I am enlisted by every consideration of gratitude and patriotism.

The bad rule that has wholly compassed the channels of political administrative authority in Pennsylvania is not of recent creation. It was the tireless but impotent power that confronted the action of the Government, State and National, during the dark days of civil war, and steadily struggled to gather advancement and gain from the bitter sorrows of the people.

Six years ago it attained control in our State. How it was achieved is remembered in humiliation by all. Why it was sought and won our subsequent history painfully demonstrates. The Republican organization, that has made its name illustrious in maintaining the unity of the States and redeeming a continent to freedom, was seized, in contempt of the will of the people, and its victories perverted to licensed wrong. I need not recite how, under an honored name and flag, it has created wide-spread, indeed almost universal, distrust of authority, and made honest men despair of integrity in legislation, in elections, in conferring legislative honors, and even in the administration of public justice.

These terrible and steadily growing evils in our political rule have made the people demand the right to resume their sovereignty, to make new safeguards for themselves; but if the proposed Convention is to effect thorough reform it must be aided, not hindered, by the vast power of the Executive and other important State officials. If Mr. Buckalew shall be defeated, and a new lease of authority thus conferred upon the despotic control that has long misruled the Commonwealth, it will be marvelous indeed if a Convention, chosen in the partisan strife of a National contest, can afford any substantial relief or protection to the people. If Pennsylvania is to be restored to purity, the Government, in all its departments, as well as the Convention, must harmonize fully and earnestly in the work of regeneration. Mr. Buckalew's confessed integrity and consistent devotion to reform during many years of official service, give the best possible guarantees of honest administration and of complete restraints upon corrupt or reckless authority, and his election seems to be demanded by every consideration of individual manhood, and of fidelity to the honor and advancement of the State.

If, as is claimed by the desperate leaders of Pennsylvania, to regenerate our State in October will affect the national contest, the cause thus to be endangered must be wanting in most essential attributes of popular confidence. Actuated solely by a sense of duty to a people, whose devotion in times past furnishes the most grateful memories of my life, I shall vote in October for honest government in our Commonwealth, and meet the Presidential issue when it comes before the people, in accordance with my long-settled convictions. I cannot consent to sacrifice a great contest for constitutional, legislative, and administrative reform because a Presidential election is pending. To yield the question, would give fresh victories for misrule, and make the effort for just fundamental restraints either measurably or wholly abortive. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
A. G. CURTIN.

To Hon. A. K. McClure, Chairman of the Liberal Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania.

The railroad trains conveyed about 8,000 spectators to the ground before the stumps were drawn for the day. The match will be finished to-morrow, and a selected eleven from the English, and twenty-two of the Americans will wind up the day with a scratch match. At the conclusion of the play today the Englishmen, in response to the most enthusiastic cheering for the twelve, and calls for individual players, made their appearance, and, being called on for a speech, Mr. Fitzgerald made a neat response, concluding with saying that the American twenty-two had made a fine display of cricket, and had given the English cricketers the toughest game they had met with since they landed in the Dominion of Canada.

The Second Assembly District Grant and Wilson Campaign Club held a ratification meeting last evening at their rooms, No. 164 Chatham-street. Resolutions were adopted indorsing Grant and Wilson. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Wm. F. Haw, Jr., Mr. D. Gano Gillette and Mr. Jno. Binney. There was a very large attendance.

The Swedish Club of this City have organized into a Central Grant and Wilson Campaign Club, with C. Murberg as President; R. Peterson, Vice-President. Between 300 and 400 members have already been enrolled, representing most of the Wards in the City. It is proposed to organize Clubs in every Ward, and then to hold a grand mass-meeting of Swedes in favor of Grant and Wilson.

The young men of the Fifteenth Assembly District formed an association last evening at No. 140 West Thirty-fifth-street, to be called the Young Men's Independent Association of the Fifteenth Assembly District, and appointed James Keenan President, Thomas Hughes Treasurer, and John O'Farrell Secretary. Over thirty members signed the roll. The Association meets every Monday.

A meeting of the Ninth Assembly District Young Men's Republican Association was held last night in the Bleecker Building, Mr. R. M. Collard in the chair. Gen. Wm. Henry Anthon delivered an eloquent speech on the merits of the two candidates for the Presidential chair, showing clearly that Gen. Grant was the man the country needed to administer the law with a firm hand. Speeches were also delivered by Hon. B. K. Phelps and others, and after cheering lustily for Grant and Wilson, the meeting separated.

General Notes.

A Grant and Wilson Campaign Club has been formed at Bellmore, Long Island, of which A. D. Frye is President.

A meeting of the Grant and Wilson Club of the village of Montgomery, Orange County, was held on the evening of Sept. 19. Dr. Crawford, a veteran Republican, is President of the Club. The meeting was addressed by David A. Scott, Esq., and James E. Graham, Esq., of Newburg, and their speeches were received with great satisfaction and enthusiasm. Montgomery has long been one of the banner Republican towns, and the good work goes on well.

On Saturday night a Grant and Wilson banner, which had been presented to the citizens of Shrewsbury, N. J., by Hon. E. Delafield Smith, was raised in that village, before a large concourse of people, among whom very few Greeleyites were to be heard or seen. The inscription on the banner—"Washington created and Grant saved the nation"—formed the text of the address of the occasion, which Mr. Smith himself delivered. The audience, which was exceedingly enthusiastic, separated with three spirited cheers for Grant and Wilson.

MONDAY, Sept. 23—P. M.

There is a much steadier state of the markets in Wall-street today than last week, although the Street is not free of excitement in the Erie Stock "corner," nor in the look of the Gold Room. The Jay Gould clique are still being "punished" by Mr. Drew on the deliveries of Erie, of which they are believed to be extremely short, while, on the other hand, the clique threaten to make Cash Gold scarce to-morrow at rounding lending rates. The bonus paid for the use of Erie Stock opened this morning at ¼ ₩ cent. and rapidly advanced to the equivalent of 2 ₩ cent. for a single day, before 2¼ P. M., the latest time for making deliveries. The extreme rate of 2 ₩ cent. was not paid for the use of the Stock, but this difference was made between Cash sales and sales in the regular way. There was no difference paid for the use of Gold today, but the sales, regular way, were advanced from 113¾@113⅞ ₩ cent. to 114 ₩ cent., on the intimation that the lending rate is to be advanced in the morning.

The Foreign Exchanges had a better look for the free transaction of business in the forenoon, and the London rates advanced to 107⅞@107⅞ for 60-day bills, and 109@109¼ ₩ cent. for Sight bills. But this good feeling was partially lost late in the day by the threat of higher Gold, or the more difficult and costly deliveries of Gold to-morrow.

Money worked comfortably among the Brokers at 7 ₩ cent., because of the borrowing demand for many of the speculative Stocks which were lent out to the Shorts at 6 ₩ cent. interest on the money advanced upon them. The Mercantile demand for Money continues active, without being of a pressive nature. The Country Banks want Money on their Bills Receivable sent to New-York for Collection, but the information has gone out to them that the condition of the City Bank Averages forbids this sort of accommodation.

The leading Banks, since the annoyances of last week, are now certifying the checks of their dealers as "good through the Clearing House." There is no other course left to them for settling the enormous daily transactions of the Brokers, running from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five millions per day. The settlements could not otherwise be made on the basis of only forty millions Greenbacks and Greenback certificates in all the Banks. No prudent Bank will or should expose itself to be drawn upon for Greenbacks across the Counter, on Certified Checks of the day, while such certification is made on the collection of other Checks through the Clearing House the following day. Nor is there any real, much less imaginary or supposititious, hardship to any party, in the regular or legitimate course of business, in the new rule. If the Greenbacks are wanted to send into the Country, or for any other purpose, by a regular dealer at Bank, his course would be to draw for them on his own Bank, after the Checks which he has deposited on other Banks are collected in Greenbacks. If a check be objected to because it may be refused for Greenbacks the same day, the question resolves itself between the party tendering and the party to receive such Checks. It has nothing to do with the practice at Bank or the rule or practice at the Stock Exchange. It has been suggested to us that A B may lend C D a given large sum of money on cash loan. The loan is called in, and A B tenders his Check on Bank, based on the Check or Checks of the party to whom he may sell or reborrow on his collateral the same day. The Check is refused by C D, the lender, which, on a test of legal right, he may deem it proper to do; but we take it, in the present sentiment on the Street and at the Stock Exchange, it would be about the last loan to the Stock Brokers he would have the opportunity of making.

Our good neighbor of the Journal of Commerce insists that Checks certified in the way referred to, and redeemable in Greenbacks, if demanded the same day, would be in the nature of post obligations by the Banks, because redeemable the next day. The question is nothing of the sort. The Banks certify "good at the Clearing House," because their own certification is based upon the collection of other Checks payable at the Clearing House. They simply accommodate themselves and their dealers to the law merchant or to the understood practice of the Stock Exchange. And it is outside of all reason or common sense business rules to say that the immense daily transactions of this great City could be carried on subject to the peremptory Greenbacks any more than Gold on every check issued by Merchant or Broker in his daily settlements. In a much larger Money market than New-York—that of the City of London—the payment of "crossed" or certified Checks cannot be demanded except through the common Clearing House, or through one Bank or Banker on another, which demand could not in comity be made except through the Clearing House.

Late in the afternoon the Stock Exchange was very much excited on Erie Stock. The officers of the Exchange Board had to buy in no less than 16,000 shares for account of Brokers who had failed to make good their deliveries of the day. The prices paid to make good these contracts were 3@4 ₩ cent. above the early sales of the day, and 2½@3 ₩ cent. above the price of the stock, at the time, for delivery to-morrow. In addition to this 16,000 shares, a bonus of ½@1@2 ₩ cent. was paid on a large amount of stock until to-morrow. The Brokers who supplied the stock under the rule this afternoon are the Brokers of Mr. Drew. The Brokers for whose account the stock was bought in under the rule are said to be, to the extent of at least 10,000 shares, the Brokers of the Jay Gould clique, who, according to rumor, contemplate a squeeze upon the Gold Room to-morrow and a raid upon the general market for stocks, by way of avenging their defeat on Erie. The Stock Market, near the close of business, looked as though prices had been much weakened as compared with Saturday night. The closing quotations appear below:

TO INVESTORS.

To those who have funds to invest in large or small amounts, or who wish to increase their income from means already invested in other less profitable securities, we recommend, after full investigation, the Seven-Thirty Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. Bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. gold interest, (equal now to 8¼ currency,) and sold at par, they yield an income considerably more than one-third greater than United States 5-20s. They are Coupon and Registered, the lowest denomination being $100, the highest $10,000.

Nearly one-third of the Main Line of the Road will be completed and in operation with a large business the present season. All the property and rights of the Company, including a most valuable Land Grant, averaging about 23,000 acres per mile of road, are pledged as security for the first mortgage bonds now offered.

All marketable stocks and bonds are received in exchange at current prices. Descriptive pamphlets and maps, showing Route of Road, Connections, Tributary Country, &c., will be furnished on application.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been much depressed and quoted off 2c.@3c. a bushel, on more urgent offerings of stock, particularly of other than choice grades of Milwaukee, the available supply of which has been very light. The demand has been fair at the reduced figures, mainly for shipment, though the increasing firmness in ocean freights has been against the export movement. Winter Wheat has been very quiet and irregular as to values. Desirable lots have been in scant stock, especially Amber and White, which have been wanted for milling. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 147,000 bushels at $1 65 for prime new No. 1 Milwaukee Spring, afloat, (for milling;) $1 51½@$1 54 for ordinary to choice new No. 2 Chicago and Northwest Spring, chiefly at $1 53 for prime samples; $1 48@$1 50 for new Nos. 2 and 3 Spring, mixed; $1 45@$1 48, chiefly at $1 47 for new No. 3 Spring; $1 37@$1 42 for rejected Spring, in lots; $1 53@$1 70 for inferior to prime Red, at $1 78 for prime Amber Western; and $1 95@$2 for White Western in small lots....Corn has been fairly active and rather steadier as to price. WOOL—There has been more animation in the general market, holders having shown more willingness to meet the requirements of buyers, particularly for cash. Domestic Fleece has been moving more freely, and there has been rather more call for Domestic Pulled, at the going rates, which indicate a comparatively steady range for desirable lots. California and Texas Wool has been plenty and in rather slack request. Foreign stock has attracted more attention, and as a rule has been offered with less urgency, on the basis of about previous figures. Of Australian and Cape Wool the available supplies are much lighter....From Boston the report is of a livelier business, the Commercial Bulletin of that city remarking that the "sales have been much larger in the aggregate than in any week for some time. Manufacturers and dealers seem to be coming to the conclusion that bottom prices have been reached. The former are, therefore, purchasing more freely, especially as during the week the stringency of the money market has induced some dealers to shade prices a little in order to realize. California remains heavy, with a little more doing at low prices. Scoured has been in fair demand, and sales amount to 150,000 lbs. Fleece has been in good demand, the prices favoring buyers. Sales of Pulled have been principally of Domestic. In foreign Wool there have been some large transactions. We notice that the last of a large stock of Mestiza, which has been upon the market for some months, and which has tended to depress prices a little, has been closed out, mostly in large lots, for consumption, on private terms, but it is understood to have been at low figures."....From Philadelphia the advices are of an unsatisfactory and unsettled market, owing to the stringency in the money market, and prices are lower. The Price Current, of that city, says: "There was at the close, however, a little more inquiry, but the manufacturers still keep aloof from making purchases, except to supply immediate wants, anticipating lower figures as the season advances."

FREIGHTS—There has been a livelier movement reported in the way of berth freights, at decidedly firmer rates, with the main call for room for Grain, Cotton, Provisions and Tobacco, particularly for Grain and Cotton. The chartering business has been moderate, checked by the reduced supply of tonnage and the confident views of owners....For Liverpool, the reported engagements since our last include, by sail, 500 bales Cotton at ¼d. for compressed, 31,000 bushels Grain at 9½d. for Corn and 10½d. for Wheat; 65 hhds. WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET.

Our quotations are the wholesale prices paid for sound merchantable Produce in good clean packages.

BUTTER—The receipts have been 8,407 pkgs. for the past three days, and 15,433 pkgs. for the week. The finer grades of stock continue in good request, mainly on local and near by trade account, at firm prices. The offerings consist mostly of grades not up to the requirements of City buyers, and are, consequently, rather slow of sale at the irregular figures. There is not much of an export movement at present, and packers operate quite moderately. The week's exports were 788 pkgs. The receipts of Butter since Jan. 1 have been 438,555 pkgs., against 443,000 pkgs. same time in 1871; exports, 3,120,471 lbs., against 4,604,547 lbs. same time in 1871. We quote:

CHEESE—The receipts during the past three days have been 13,252 boxes, and, for the week, 31,068 boxes. The home-trade inquiry is the main reliance of sellers at present, the demand from shippers being very moderate, in view of the unsatisfactory foreign advices, the increasing firmness in ocean freights and the unusual depression and irregularity in foreign exchanges, exporters finding it difficult to place their supplies of sterling bills advantageously. Desirable grades are not offered with much freedom or urgency, and prices rule about steady. The week's exports were 19,033 boxes. The receipts here since Jan. 1 have been 1,190,117 pkgs., against 973,000 pkgs. same time in 1871. Exports, 54,137,857 lbs., against 52,948,137 lbs. the same time in 1871. We quote as follows:

SECOND CAMPAIGN EDITION.
OF THE
NEW-YORK TIMES.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

On THURSDAY morning we shall publish our second campaign edition. It will be a paper of great value and interest, containing many articles especially written for it, and a very large collection of SHORT QUOTATIONS from the best letters and speeches which have been published during the canvass. These selections will be pithy and full of point, and must prove of great service to clubs, speakers, and newspapers. They have been prepared with great care, and names and dates are carefully given in every case. The general contents will render this the most effective campaign paper ever issued, and one which will be indispensable to Republicans throughout the country.

Among the interesting features of this edition may be included the following:

1. An article bringing together the outrageous slanders upon Gen. GRANT which have been circulated under the authority of HORACE GREELEY, either in his own paper or his other organs—together with an incontestable refutation of these slanders.

2. Mr. GREELEY'S letters recommending bad men for office, showing the real drift of his sentiments as a "Civil Service Reformer."

3. A reply to the attacks upon Gen. HARTRANFT, Republican candidate for Governor in Pennsylvania.

4. GREELEY and TWEED—their partnership in a tobacco manufacturing company. The proofs and the facts, showing GREELEY'S close and secret alliance with TWEED during the reign of the "Boss."

5. DOOLITTLE: His dishonesty and bad faith. Portrait of a sample Greeleyite.

6. REUBEN E. FENTON: A short sketch of a career which began in embezzlement, and was succeeded by corruption of the worst kind. FENTON'S exploits as a dishonest clerk and a corrupt Governor will be partially described in this article—an article rendered necessary by the fact that FENTON would hold a very high office if GREELEY could insure his own election.

7. GREELEY'S Secession Record: A list of his utterances on that subject, with examples from 1860 to 1872.

8. The OAKES AMES Slander, invented by the Sun and New-York Tribune, fully disproved.

9. The Cincinnati platform and address, with notes by HORACE GREELEY. A very interesting and curious article, well worthy of preservation.

10. Gen. DIX'S famous order: Who wrote it? The truth on the subject.

11. A selection of short and pithy paragraphs, from the best speeches and letters which have been published during the canvass. These quotations would alone render the campaign edition of great value to the Republican cause all over the country. They include paragraphs, bright and pungent, from the speeches and writings of WILLIAM LLOYD GARRISON, GERRIT SMITH, FREDERICK DOUGLASS, RICHARD H. DANA, Senator CONKLING, Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER, Dr. LIEBER, Senator MORTON, Vice-President COLFAX, Judge HOAR, Judge STELLO, Senator FERRY, Attorney-General WILLIAMS and others. Whenever anything of force has been spoken or published, we have extracted the best part of it and reserved it for this special edition.

The edition will consist of four pages, price three cents a single copy, or $2 per hundred, and $20 per thousand. Orders should be sent in without delay, as we can only supply them according to the dates at which they are received.

Mr. WEED'S state of health will not enable him to complete his annotations upon GREELEY'S celebrated letter, and therefore we cannot publish it in this edition.

The Tribune says that Gen. JOHN A. DIX was paid fifteen thousand dollars for his services as President of the Erie Railroad, after the expulsion of FISK and GOULD. Whether this was so or not, we cannot tell; but we are quite sure that fifteen thousand dollars would have formed a very small remuneration for the services actually performed by Gen. DIX. There is another thing which is certain—namely, that this attack upon Gen. DIX, considering the quarter from which it comes, is one of the basest which even the Greeleyites in this campaign have yet produced. Mr. S. L. M. BARLOW, of Madison-avenue, made about five hundred thousand dollars out of his Erie operations at the time JAY GOULD was expelled; and if rumor is not unusually inaccurate, he "put up" a Tribune editor for a very nice little sum of money at the same time. And what has been the result of BARLOW'S operations? Merely to substitute one swindling ring for another. This paragraph in the Tribune is an invitation to us to inquire into Erie affairs, as managed after the expulsion of GOULD. We accept it, and will show what Mr. S. L. M. BARLOW and his friends—including the Tribune editor—have done for the road.

Mr. GREELEY'S organ still demands the prosecution of TWEED, and carefully avoids saying a word about HALL, SWEENY, CONNOLLY and BRENNAN. Now, we want all these men prosecuted, and we shall never rest until we see them brought to justice—but what pitiful humbug it is to see the Tribune singling one of them out, simply because he refused to give GREELEY money to enable him to get up his Union-square meeting, last week. Let some reader of the Tribune ask it why it is silent about HALL, SWEENY and BRENNAN? It dare not answer that question—any more than it will dare to tell the public why GREELEY joined TWEED in what he thought was going to be a highly-remunerative speculation. Put TWEED in jail, by all means, but let us have HALL, SWEENY and BRENNAN with him. Dare the Tribune subscribe to that? Come, Mr. GREELEY, answer that question, without dodging.

No new slanders invented yesterday by the Greeleyites—wonderful fact!—unless we mention their preposterous story that Senator O'BRIEN is in league with Tom, Dick and Harry to get the Mayoralty. Just what the Oakes Ames story, the Long Branch cottage story, the Galena land story, the intemperance story, and hundreds of other slanders turned out to be—so will this O'Brien yarn prove. As for us, we shall support the best man in the field. We shall be on the side of the public, without the slightest reference to interested combinations, no matter from whence they may spring. We only ask our readers to form their opinions upon our policy from what we say, not from what others say of us. We are for reform and against the thieves, including Tribune and Greeley thieves—and when the time comes for striking, we shall give GREELEY'S successor and his Erie fellow-schemers good cause to know exactly where we stand.

Ex-Gov. CURTIN'S manifesto for BUCKALEW has appeared. Whatever may be its effect upon the State canvass, it contains a distinct reservation as to his course on the Presidential issue, which he declares "he will meet when it comes." This is more discouraging to the Greeley party than even BUCKALEW'S more obstinate refusal to be committed to the Baltimore candidate.

Mr. GREELEY, last evening, in his speech at Indianapolis, adopted as his own the slander invented by the New-York Sun with reference to the Credit Mobilier. Every intelligent man in the country knows that this slander has been completely exposed and refuted. Mr. GREELEY'S late and gratuitous aid in spreading it, while it cannot affect the gentlemen slandered, exhibits in a new light the desperate character of Mr. GREELEY'S own fortunes.

Mr. Greeley on the Stump.

We cannot think very highly of the political discernment of Ex-Gov. HENRY S. FOOTE, who met Mr. GREELEY in his wanderings yesterday and declared that it was "the duty" of the sage to go to Alabama and Tennessee and deliver some of his political harangues. The venerable rebel even went so far as to say that Mr. GREELEY'S personal appearance on the scene of action was "a necessity" to the "Liberal cause," which is in a very bad way in those States. What manner of men they can have down in Alabama and Tennessee to make the parade of Mr. GREELEY'S oratorical blunders desirable for his own success, we are at a loss to conceive. We believe the insinuation of the Ex-Governor does gross injustice to the mental calibre of his friends and neighbors. It is not possible that even in the regions where, according to Mr. GREELEY'S own theory, Democracy has spread in the absence of free schools and to the great multiplication of mulattoes, his speeches should not do him more harm than good.

However, it is evident that Mr. GREELEY himself shares with Gov. FOOTE the flattering estimate placed on his talent as a stump speaker. Every stage in his curious journey betrays the fact that it was premeditated, and its object solely political, for which its professed object was but a cloak. This fact was strenuously denied by his friends before his departure, and every effort was made to persuade the public that the Philosopher was about to set out for the strictly non-partizan purpose of making a harmless exhibition of his universal misinformation touching the mechanic arts and agriculture. It may be that Mr. GREELEY was a party to this deception, and resorted to a ruse to escape the leading strings of JOHN COCHRANE, bent on indulging at all costs his appetite for notoriety. The remarkable "editorial" left behind him, and which appears in yesterday's edition of his private organ, bears out this inference by proclaiming the irrepressible nature of his "strong and resolute individuality," and the fact that his "rugged frankness" could not be expected to stand his enforced silence much longer.

Thus far Mr. GREELEY'S progress has been marked by every feature that should delight the soul of a political pilgrim—except popular enthusiasm. His tongue has been loosed, and he has poured out, without stint, those profuse explanations of his personal views which are so soothing to the vanity, however ruinous they may be to the political prospects of a candidate of Mr. GREELEY'S character. He has had a chance in his own person to show the people, who have been attracted to hear him, how all-important he is in this campaign, how he forced himself upon the Democracy by his early utterances on amnesty, and how his notions about secession, past, present and future, and his beautiful theories of finance, are really the points of interest in the canvass, to which any demonstrations by the Democracy are very subordinate. He has had a chance, too, to make repeated appeals, in the most pathetic manner, for the support of those who sympathize with his lack of a polished education, and admire the success with which he claims to have triumphed over early disadvantages. Yesterday, at Jeffersonville, Ind., he made a most affecting allusion to this subject. He told his hearers how he had opposed slavery in the interest of the laborer, and added, with a sudden perception of an opportunity to be agreeable to the old slave-holders, "This may have been a mistake." Nothing more exquisitely demagogical than this is known in American politics. So, too, Mr. GREELEY has had an opportunity refreshing to him, no doubt, and instructive to the country, to display before the merchants of the West his precious nostrums for all the ills finance is heir to. Like all quacks, Mr. GREELEY has a fondness for heroic methods of treatment, and does not hesitate to descant to men who have just been saved from a repetition of Black Friday by the interposition of the Treasury, on the advantages of stripping the Treasury of gold.

We do not call attention to these features in Mr. Greeley's tour to discourage him from extending and repeating it. The more of these "manifestations" of his "strong and resolute individuality," the more outbursts of "his rugged frankness" he is tempted to make, the better for the country and for the Republican Party, whose safe and steady administration of affairs appears the clearer for every demonstration of the Sage's erratic vanity.

Preparing for the Reform Campaign.

The Council of Political Reform has earned the right to be considered the advanced guard in the struggle for good government in this City. Their meeting in the Spring of last year was the first attempt to give cohesion and organization to the divided forces of public opinion, which were even then gathering, in response to the appeals of the TIMES, for that overwhelming movement which carried the cause of reform on to victory last Fall. It is, therefore, peculiarly appropriate that the preparatory steps for this year's Municipal campaign should be taken by a body whose unselfish devotion, and whose unflagging energy have been so well approved. The prime necessity of the reform movement, under existing circumstances, is organization and united action. On certain general principles, all honest citizens are agreed. How to carry these to a practical and triumphant result, is a problem which demands mutual counsel, great tact, discretion and, above all, harmonious action. While it was well, therefore, in the programme of last night's meeting, that there should be so thorough a restatement of the great principles of municipal reform as was given in the resolutions and in the very able speeches delivered by Judge VAN COTT and others, it was still more to the point that an Executive Committee for conference and suggestion should be indorsed by the highly intelligent and respectable body of citizens who were present. The names on that Committee are such as will command an unqualified measure of public confidence. They are fairly representative of the character, the intelligence, the wealth, and the business and industrial interests of New-York City. Acting in unison with the representatives of other organizations pledged to the common work of a non-partisan reform of local affairs, they may be trusted to sacrifice no popular right to a short-sighted expediency, while at the same time they will be careful not to reject an attainable, though partial installment of reform in favor of a more perfect, but temporarily impracticable one.

The temper of last night's meeting showed very conclusively that the detestation of the Ring plunderers is as strong a sentiment as it was this time last year. Judge VAN COTT'S well-delivered thrust about Mayor HALL turning his back that he should not see how much TWEED took out of the public treasury fairly "brought down the house." We believe that to the immediate audience and to the public out of doors there was a meaning no less pregnant in the reminder of the speaker, that had not the people also turned their backs, for a time, neither TWEED nor HALL could have so basely betrayed his trust. At the approaching election there are many important local offices to be filled. Of the merits of the candidates to be put in nomination, the people must know and judge for themselves. It is, as Mr. BRYANT remarked, the great mass of the people who suffer when knavish men obtain authority and power. One essential part of the task of every reform organization should, therefore, be to educate the voter to the work of careful selection and thorough sifting of the antecedents of the men who are to be intrusted with the work either of making our laws or of executing them. In City matters the only principles which enter into such selection are the character and abilities of the candidates, and to this simple issue the attention of the community cannot be too steadily confined.

It is barely necessary to remind the reform organizations that when it becomes a question of naming candidates, the persons thrust forward by professional politicians and by their newspaper organs are to be viewed with considerable suspicion. In regard to the judicial and legal positions to be filled, take the advice of the Bar Association, which stands before the people, free from any taint of self-seeking and crowned with the laurels of a successful battle against corruption on the Bench. In regard to the Mayoralty, the reform associations are perfectly able to determine not only who is a suitable candidate in point of character and ability, but who has, in addition to these, the probability of being acceptable to the largest number of voters. The Herald and Tribune are declaring that this or that one will be a candidate. We have only to say, that we hope our friends will name a good man. As we said in regard to the Governorship, we repeat in regard to the Mayoralty, we shall support the best man by whomsoever named.

Democrats in the Custom-Houses.

Soon after it was determined to do "anything to beat GRANT," it was found that the "anything" must consist chiefly, if not solely, of misrepresentations of the policy and acts of his Administration, and of personal slander of him and his leading political friends. No man, not even a public man, is bound to refute personal slanders; that is merely a matter of taste and judgment. But the slanders against the President and his chief supporters, even down to this miserable Oakes Ames' forgery, have been refuted in a manner so thorough that it ought to be satisfactory even to the most stupid person in the country. One variety of this kind of malicious misrepresentation has been the holding President GRANT, or his Administration, responsible for facts or for practices for which, whether they are right or wrong, he or they were no more responsible than the Tycoon is; the facts or practices in question being at least a generation old. The World has distinguished itself in this respect. It has published a series of articles holding Gen. GRANT and Secretary BOUTWELL up as "swindling" the country because of the expenses in the minor Custom-houses. When we exposed the essential dishonesty of this proceeding, by showing that these Custom-houses were established by act of Congress, and that the disbursements at them were made by the same authority, the World had the effrontry to flout what we said, and to reiterate its charge of "swindling" on the ground that, although these appropriations were made by law, they were made because they had been asked by the Republican Secretary of the Treasury, who, and whose chief, must, therefore, be held responsible for them. We take the World at its own word, and we propose seeing of exactly how much and what kind of swindling Gen. GRANT'S Republican Administration has been guilty in regard to these Custom-houses.

The first charge was with regard to the Custom-house at Apalachicola, Fla., because the expenses there in 1871 had reached the sum of $3,860. If Gen. GRANT'S Administration has wantonly wasted even that sum, of course it must be held responsible therefor. But let us see what it actually did do. This will best appear by comparing Republican expenses, at this place, with Democratic expenses in previous years, which may be done by the following authentic statement:

CUSTOM-HOUSE EXPENSES AT THE PORT OF APALACHICOLA DURING THE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION OF FRANKLIN PIERCE.

1853	$4,369 00
1854	4,727 11
1855	5,959 40
1856	5,221 60

Now FRANKLIN PIERCE was a Democrat, and a rather narrow-minded one, but we never heard that he was accused of swindling the country; and he had his own way with a Democratic Congress, and yet we find that his Democratic "Beef-Eaters in the Custom-House" devoured every year a monstrous deal more than Gen. GRANT and his Republican Administration have provided; the least expense being $4,369 as compared with $3,860, and the largest $5,959 as compared with the same sum—almost twice as much. Let us now look at the Democratic expenditure at the same place for the next four years under the Administration of JAMES BUCHANAN. It was

1857	$4,850 94
1858	4,911 52
1859	4,961 26
1860	5,642 71

Here we see about the same ratio of excess of Democratic expenditure over the Republican expenditure under President GRANT. We turn to the next Custom-house, that at Alexandria, Virginia, as to which the World has made these pitiful misrepresentations. The expenditures there, according to the World, reached, in the year 1871, the iniquitous sum of $4,991 20. What a "swindle" this was may be seen by comparing it with the following statement of total expenditures at the same place during the Democratic Administration of FRANKLIN PIERCE.

1853	$6,131 00
1854	5,947 76
1855	5,773 00
1856	5,211 91

Here, indeed, is "richness." If it be swindling for Gen. GRANT'S Administration to expend $4,991 in one year at a Custom-house, what was it for a Democratic Administration to expend $6,131 in the same time at the same place? But, perhaps, what was wasted under one Democratic Administration was saved under the next. Let us see by the statement of the expenses at the same post under Mr. BUCHANAN:

1857	$5,211 91
1858	5,660 54
1859	6,227 26
1850	4,442 13

Not much mitigation of the "swindle" there; in fact a little increase. Now these figures are from the official records of the Democratic officers themselves, and can be verified at the Treasury Department. They show what a bare-faced, slanderous pretense this is, of holding Gen. GRANT'S Administration up as dishonest in its expenditures, and wastful of the public money, when, in truth, it has been economical, and has very materially retrenched those expenditures in every possible way. This must suffice for today; but having the material at hand we propose following the World's lead in this matter; for it has unwittingly led to the revelation of what an excess of expenditure, and, to use its own choice phrase, what an access of swindling we might expect if we got back the Democrats in the Custom-houses.

Pistol Practice for Ladies.

Last Tuesday night two burglars entered the house of a gentleman residing on Staten Island, but who was temporarily absent from home. The wife of the proprietor was awakened by the barking of the dog, which sound, however, soon ceased owing to the soothing influence of strychnine. She had a revolver within her reach, and when, after a few moments of watching, she perceived a burglar's head gently insinuated beside the half-open door of her bedroom, she fired at it with the promptitude with which the proverbial Irishman of Donnybrook Fair greets the casually-displayed head of a fellow-countryman. The burglar fled, and the brave woman pursuing him and discerning a second burglar, opened fire on them both, and drove them ignominiously from the house. She fired four shots in all, and the only unpleasant feature of the affair was the fact that she did not succeed in hitting either of the robbers.

From this episode of suburban life we may draw the lesson that men who reside in the neighborhood of the City, and who occasionally are compelled to leave their families unprotected during the night, should instruct their wives in pistol practice, so that haply, while the husband is toiling for a livelihood in town, his wife may be reaping a blessed harvest of burglars at home. It will not do to leave one's wife and household in charge of the family dog, for such is the deplorable weakness of canine nature, that the most trustworthy and irreproachable of dogs, if tempted with meat, is sure to fall. The clamorous terrier, carefully concealed from the carnal temptation, combined with strychnine, wherewith the burglar silences the burly watch-dog of the yard, is useful as a means of awakening the pistol-bearing part of the household, but except in this particular dogs are useless when pitted against wily felons.

The example of the heroine of Staten Island shows at once the efficiency of the pistol in feminine hands as a means of frightening away burglars, and the uncertainty of aim which necessarily characterizes the firing of a woman who has never practiced target-shooting. Were the suburban wife an accomplished pistol-shot, not only would she be able to protect herself and family against the violence of malefactors, but she would materially contribute to the welfare of the community by occasionally bagging a brace of burglars, or winging an intrusive sneak-thief. It may be objected that certain women—of whom Mrs. FAIR and the young person who shot her lover in Williamsburg some few months since are notorious examples—have demonstrated the folly of permitting their sex to gain a knowledge of the use of fire-arms. It should be noted, however, that in these, as in nearly all cases of feminine murder, the assassins were in such close proximity to their victims that they could not miss them; and there is, moreover, not the least reason to believe that they had ever before attempted to fire a pistol. Indeed, in one comparatively recent tragedy of this sort, a want of skill with the pistol resulted in the killing of the wrong man by a woman who attempted to murder her ex-lover in a street-car. Women who desire to shoot obnoxious male acquaintances will not be deterred by their unfamiliarity with the pistol, and it is, therefore, idle to hope to balk them of their felonious designs by denying all instruction in pistol-practice to the entire sex. Let the suburban wife then diligently practice pistol-shooting in the publicity of her front garden. Thus shall she warn all but the boldest burglars off the premises, and on some happy night, when her pistol is the sole but all-sufficient guardian of the household, make for herself a name to be envied by men and women, by strewing her ground with the felonious corpses of the reckless ruffians who have ventured within reach of her deadly aim.

MINOR TOPICS.

We have received a very long communication from CHARLES C. YEATON, in which he seeks to explain Mr. GREELEY'S connection with the Tobacco Manufacturers' Association. Mr. YEATON admits that Mr. GREELEY subscribed for five thousand dollars of the stock; he denies no material allegation we have made, except that he asserts that Mr. GREELEY did in fact pay for his stock in the following manner: GREELEY gave YEATON his check, which was retained till YEATON had earned five thousand dollars as commissions for getting subscribers. Then GREELEY'S original check was returned to YEATON, and by him handed back to Mr. GREELEY. Even if this were true, it would be a singular transaction. But the fact is it is not true. We have before us the sworn testimony of CHARLES C. YEATON himself and of HORACE GREELEY, both taken within ten months, in a proceeding in which YEATON was seeking to procure his own discharge from Ludlow-street Jail, and both YEATON and GREELEY swear to facts which, not only in this respect but in almost all others, are utterly inconsistent with the statement now sent us by Mr. YEATON. Our space is too valuable to be devoted to the publication of statements not under oath, when we have the sworn statements of the same man expressly the other way.

A fair answer to the question, why our yachtsmen, as a rule, prefer to drift in June rather than to race in September, was furnished by the plucky little sloop that actually did race on a particularly windy day last week. Both of these vessels carried away portions of their running gear, and one of them spilt five men overboard, while her mainsail was made of canvas so light that the reef-points kept steadily tearing out. All this in what was scarcely a single-reefed topsail breeze. So, too, when the Cambria raced several of our large schooners last year, the latter found themselves so badly strained after each race that they were forced to go into dry-dock, or lay up for repairs. The fact seems to be that our yachts are built too exclusively with a view to speed. They are undoubtedly the fastest boats in the world; but it would be well if they were also the most seaworthy. Yachting ought not to be confined to trials of speed in smooth water, and under light racing canvas; and boats that cannot stand a stiff breeze without straining their timbers, and washing their crews overboard, are evidently not yet quite perfect.

The monotonous work of boring a tunnel under the Hoosac Mountains has again been diversified by an explosion which killed one man and seriously, if not fatally, injured two others. These "accidents" have occurred with unfailing regularity ever since the interminable task of tunneling the mountain was begun. In the meantime the Mount Cenis Tunnel has been begun and finished, and it is not improbable that St. Gothard will be tunneled before the Hoosac enterprise is finished. It is not creditable to us that the Hoosac Tunnel should have remained so long unfinished, while Frenchmen and Italians have successfully accomplished a still greater undertaking of the same sort. It is far more discreditable, however, that so many lives should have been sacrificed in the Hoosac Mountains, while hardly a single casualty marked the progress of the Mount Cenis Tunnel. Are our workmen less expert, or merely less careful than the French and Italian engineers?

The accident which so greatly alarmed the passengers on board the Dean Richmond, a few nights since, proved not to be of a serious character. Nevertheless, the conduct of the frightened passengers shows what a horrible calamity we should have had to record, had the steamer burned to the water's edge. From the statements which have been published, it seems that a panic seized upon the passengers as soon as they learned that the steamer was on fire, and that even after she had been run ashore, men and women in their night-clothes crowded into the steamers that had come to the relief of the Richmond. Meanwhile, though the Captain did precisely the right thing at the right time, by running his boat ashore, no officer seems to have made any effort to allay the panic. If the passengers were thus panic stricken when no fire was visible, except in the lower part of the vessel, what would have been the result had the fire been beyond control, the steamer in the middle of the river, and no other steamers near enough to come to her rescue?

A torpedo-boat so constructed as to be able to swim below the surface of the water, attach a few pounds of nitro-glycerine to a vessel's hull, explode it with a time fuse, and safely swim back to shore again, would doubtless be an awful warlike invention. Quite a number of torpedo-boats have been built which have successfully swam below the surface, but the slight drawback in regard to them has been their reluctance to come to the surface again. The Confederates at Charleston tried a boat of this sort, but, after it had successfully drowned three crews by its obstinate habit of remaining at the bottom of the harbor for an undesirable length of time, it was finally pronounced to be too dangerous for use. An ingenious person who submitted another torpedo-boat to the naval authorities in Brooklyn, the other day, does not appear to have made much improvement upon the Charleston craft. His boat suddenly went to the bottom, with three men on board, and was ignominiously brought up again by means of a derrick. Now, inasmuch as the torpedo-boat in actual warfare could not always have a derrick conveniently on hand, it is safe to say that the latest experiment has proved a decided failure.

The Panama Star & Herald of Sept. 5 has the following paragraph in regard to Gen. KILPATRICK and his attempt to procure the indictment of the TIMES:

> "The Grand Jury in the case of Gen. KILPATRICK, formerly United States Minister to Chili, against the NEW-YORK TIMES for libel, failed to find an indictment and were discharged on the 14th ult. The TIMES of the 13th ult. states that the charge of libel was brought against it for republishing in its columns 'statements which were published in the Panama Star & Herald, New-York Herald, and New-York World, and hundreds of other papers downward.' These 'statements' were facts in regard to Gen. KILPATRICK'S conduct while United States Minister to Chili, and are too familiar to most of our readers on this Isthmus and on the coast to require repetition here. We would have been very much astonished, indeed, had any respectable jury found an indictment on such charges."

AMUSEMENTS.

Booth's Theatre.

REAPPEARANCE OF MR. AND MRS. BOUCICAULT.

Twelve years have rolled by since Mr. and Mrs. Boucicault last acted here, and the years have brought some changes. In an artistic sense, and so far as these performers are concerned, it is satisfactory to say that those changes have been for the better. The gentleman, in fact, at that date, was a very young actor, if a tolerably mature dramatist. If we mistake not, he played for the first time only a short space before 1860, and, as we remember seeing him not far from the period of his first public essays in acting, he was but a clever amateur. He is now a very closely studied and elaborate artist, whose finesse has not lost by the experience which has brought him more force and more breadth of style. Mrs. Boucicault, in certain characters, has had no superior. The delicacy and extreme finish that were her characteristics before she still retains; and, as might be expected, she adds to these not too common attributes a mellowness and power not manifested before. "Arrah-na-Pogue," which was chosen for the re-entrance last night of these popular artists, at Booth's Theatre, is a melodrama well known here. It presents in a striking and condensed shape suggestions and situations highly relished by Irish patriots, and, by reason of its variety of incident and sometimes very clever dialogue, is tolerably sure to be taking with a mixed audience anywhere. The perils and the triumphs, the wit and the impudence of the Irish peasant, charming to his own kind, are amusing enough to most people, and the elements for securing prosperity, in behalf of an exhibition of those qualities are as many and trustworthy in New-York as of any other place in the world. Besides this, it is to be said that Mr. Boucicault's art, such as it is, is at least far superior to that which has brought forth the rubbish long known here as Irish drama and played by artists of the Barney Williams school. On this score the success of pieces like the "Colleen Bawn" and "Arrah-na-Pogue" is warranted by satisfactory reasons, and, when backed by such acting as that of Mr and Mrs. Boucicault, is pretty safe to be quite unequivocal long after the aforesaid rubbish is shelved and forgotten.

Aside from the merits of the drama itself, the representation of "Arrah-na-Pogue" last night was one of the most complete and satisfactory seen in New-York for many a day. Mr. Boucicault's Shaun really comes so near being a perfect piece of acting that we confess our inability, at this writing, to find any fault with it. The personation is simple, even unexaggerated, thoroughly free from trick or the other vices that come under the head of staginess, exceedingly natural and genuine in its humor, and very touching in its unaffected pathos. Mr. Boucicault honestly deserved all the applause he got last night, and that is saying a great deal. We find Mrs. Boucicault much improved. She has not, however, entirely conquered a certain automatic peculiarity she formerly had, nor has she become—at least so far as we can as yet judge—as sympathetic as we hoped. Her Arrah is nevertheless a remarkably pretty and telling picture, full of nicety and truth of detail, and it resembles Mr. Boucicault's in the uncommon and most refreshing fact that it is actually like what it pretends to be. This it is that made the performance of last night so emphatically successful. It was the acting, and not the clothes or the scenes, excellent as both these were, that wrought the impression; but the feeling that here was something like real artistic work, something like brains, the attainment of intellectual ends by intellectual means; and thus the effect was sound, healthy and completely harmonious. Efficient help was given to the play by an excellent actor, Mr. Shiel Barry, whose Michael Feeny was a decided hit. It is quaint, vigorous and consistent, and, on the whole, the best Irish villain of low life we remember to have seen. Other new comers, in Miss Millie Sackett, Mr. C. Alexander, Mr. Joseph Wheelock and Mr. George Becks, were favorably received. Booth's Theatre was crowded to excess on the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Boucicault were welcomed with enthusiasm and applauded with extreme cordiality throughout the evening. The stage was well set, although superiority was not so conspicuous in that respect as, at this theatre, we are used to look for. Altogether, the entertainment was one of singular success, and we do not doubt that it heralds a highly profitable engagement. "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be repeated nightly until further notice.

THE RUBINSTEIN CONCERTS.

The first of the Rubinstein concerts at Steinway Hall terminated at so late an hour last night that a satisfying reference to its incidents, written after the final note was sounded, can scarcely be attempted. Happily, as yesterday's entertainment was but the first of a series, we shall have other and more available opportunities of dealing in detail with the performers whom Mr. Grau has engaged, and with their efforts. That which most persons will be especially desirous of learning in connection with yesterday's affair, can be told at once in a few words. The highest expectations of Mr. Rubinstein's admirers were not disappointed, and the enthusiasm his performances awakened quite dwarfed by its demonstration the proportions of an already very flattering reception. More remarkable piano-playing than Mr. Rubinstein's cannot be imagined. It unites a sensibility equally alive to Beethoven, to Mozart, to Handel and to Schumann; a touch of inexhaustible variety; marvelous power and delicacy of wrist, and exceeding science and taste, governing an executive skill which no one can excel, and which, in the opinion of an audience accustomed to Mr. Rubinstein's work, it would be at least difficult for Liszt to rival. A full exhibition of the pianist's genius and art was afforded last evening, and hence the gratifying result. A superb concerto by the performer himself; an air and variations in D minor by Handel; a rondo in A minor by Mozart; an arrangement of the march from Beethoven's "Ruins of Athens;" Schumann's "Etudes Symphoniques," and three numbers composed by Mr. Rubinstein, were the media through which the greatness of the executant—and not to omit another claim of Mr. Rubinstein to our deepest regard, the talent of the composer—were clearly apparent. As mentioned above, it would be impossible to handle separately each of the artist's contributions to a really too generous programme. Only those points of Mr. Rubinstein's delivery which made the deepest impression at his first hearing in the United States, can now be hinted at. The marvelous combination of force and delicacy is particularly noticeable. In the most tremendous fortes, in which the piano, under Rubinstein's fingers, copes victoriously with the orchestra; and in pianissimi, in which the effects generally attainable only by the use of stringed instruments are wrought, the quality of the tone produced is of unvarying beauty; the runs are now brilliant as though each note were a diamond, now close as chains of sound formed of the finest links; the bars in octaves have the might of Sanderson's, and the finish of Gottschalk's arabesques; the arpeggios justify—and how rarely they do any musician of culture will admit—the derivation of the name. All the qualities of a style to which no hurried allusion like this one can do justice, were shown by the first night's labors of Mr. Rubinstein. Indifferent as the artist seems to those evidences of delight of which concert goers are often, perhaps, too liberal, the pianist could not have mistaken, or failed to appreciate the cordial greeting at the outset of the entertainment, and the twenty or more recalls during its progress. Three summons to reappear at the conclusion of the magnificent concerto in D minor; we know not how many after the recital of the march from "The Ruins of Athens," erst brought out with a distinctness indicative of the proximity of a whole band, and gradually receding until its melody grows "so fine that nothing lives 'twixt it and silence,'—these, with floral tributes, disdained rather ungraciously, were the proofs of Mr. Rubinstein's triumphs. To the extent to which any artist can share the laurels of a contest with so colossal a genius, Mr. Wieniawski divided them with Mr. Rubinstein. We remember no kindred influence exercised by a violinist over his hearers. Mr. Wieniawski's tone is of the most unexceptionable strength, roundness, and purity; his bowing in the cantabile portions of his music is perfect in its suavity and eloquence; his harmonics are of unfailing purity; his staccati are simply marvelous. Mendelssohn's concerto in E minor was the vehicle for the exposition of the violinist's school; his own "Russian Airs," in which the gentle pathos of a well-remembered Northern tune, first made known to Europe by Thalberg, was never until yesterday so potent, and his "Légende," one of the most poetical compositions ever written for the violin, supplied testimony as to the creativeness and imagination of the musician and executant. Mr. Wieniawski, as well as Mr. Rubinstein, was constrained to reappear time and again. The artists whose exertions as vocalists secured occasional and desirable repose for the instrumentalists were Mlle. Louise Liebhart and Mlle. Louise Orményi. Mlle. Liebhart was somewhat hoarse, last evening, but the grand aria from "Der Freyschuetz" and one of Allen's ballads proved that she is not without skill, however slight, at the present period of her existence, her resources. Mlle. Orményi is a mezzo-soprano of limited compass rather than a contralto, for her lower notes are not worth taking into account. In the second piece assigned her—an air from Bellini's "Capuletti e Montecchi"—she was heard to most advantage, for her execution was utterly inadequate to the florid "Non piu mesta" from Rossini's "La Cenerentola," and her intonation was frequently inaccurate. A proficient, though rather noisy, orchestra under the baton of Mr. Bergmann assisted, and when the services of an accompanyist were required, M. Rembielinski discharged capably the thankless duties of that personage. The second Rubinstein concert will be given to-morrow. We must not neglect to say that Steinway Hall was, on the occasion we write of, crowded.

MARIO-PATTI CONCERTS.

The only Patti-Mario concert to occur in this City this week, may be attended this evening. It will take place at Steinway Hall. Last night's entertainment at the Brooklyn Academy of Music was very largely attended, and almost every piece on the programme was redemanded.

Cooper Institute.

The third of the series of Republican meetings at Cooper Institute, to be held on Wednesday evening of this week, is to be addressed by Judge Edwards, Pierrepont, and Hon. Frederick Douglass. The meetings already held under the same auspices have been eminently successful.

Cox Ignored.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser reports the following: "In a Democratic procession in Albany, on Wednesday night last, one of the wards bore a transparency inscribed, 'For Congressman at Large, Amasa J. Parker.' Some Democrats with average intelligence discovered the mistake and caused this rebuke to Sunset Cox to be removed from the line. These accidents will happen occasionally, where so large a portion of a party have to depend upon others to read for them."

POLITICAL REFORM.

A Grand Gathering of Anti-Corruptionists.

Vigorous Speeches by Members of the Council.

What the People Are Going to Do About City Government.

Addresses by Oswald Ottendorfer, Wm. Cullen Bryant, J. M. Van Cott, D. B. Eaton, Gov. Salomon and Others.

The mass-meeting at the Cooper Institute, last evening, under the direction of the New-York City Council of Political, was well attended by the well-to-do people, who are all interested in the improvement of Municipal affairs. There was no attempt at display or enticing decoration. The affair was grave and business-like in every respect. Those who were present looked as if they had come for a purpose, and not out of curiosity. Ladies, too, were among the audience. On the stage were Henry Clews, Peter Cooper, and the most of the following list of Vice-Presidents:

The meeting was called to order by Oswald Ottendorfer in these words:

OSWALD OTTENDORFER'S ADDRESS.

This meeting has been called, as stated in the invitation, for the purpose of consolidating into one determined effort all the reform organizations and all friends of reform in this City, to devise and consummate measures for the reform of our Municipal affairs. In the excitement of the present hour, when the public attention is occupied with the discussion of questions the decision of which may be of the greatest importance for the future of our whole country, when every conscientious citizen is studying the state of public affairs to learn in what way he shall exert his influence to contribute to the extent of his ability to the promotion of the common welfare—under these circumstances, it may appear at the first sight preposterous to ask intelligent citizens of New-York to lay aside even for a moment their armor and weapons with which they are called to fight in the coming national contest, to forget the prejudices and partialities by which they feel themselves affiliated to one or the other of our political parties, and to insist that, regardless of the influences that may result therefrom and affect the prospects of the candidates for the highest office in the gift of the people, in Municipal affairs there shall be only one standard by which the claims of the candidates are to be measured, that is their ability, fidelity and honesty. But the untimeliness of such a demand in the heat of a Presidential campaign is only seemingly, and a little reflection will convince every intelligent citizen that there is no violation of party fidelity, no neglecting of patriotic duties in such a course. On the contrary, it is demanded by all considerations that ought to determine the action of honest men in the exercise of their rights and duties as citizens of New-York. On all ends and sides, in most of the emanations of our public life, symptoms of a wide-spread corruption come to the surface, and even if we do not pay much weight to the accusations raised, especially numerous in the excitement of a Presidential campaign. The general impression is unavoidable that our public and political life is in a fearful state of demoralization, and the worst of it is that this sad state of affairs could only arise through the apathy of the majority of our citizens, by which they become accustomed to consider the public affairs as something in which they have no interest, and by which they allowed a special code of morals to be invented to be applied in the conduct of public matters, the application of which in their private affairs they would indignantly reject. Even our different political parties acknowledge this fact by the profuse promises they make in their resolutions and platforms to reform, if successful, the numerous abuses complained of. Now, I do not doubt or deny the sincerity of their intentions, although the majority of the people, warned by past experiences, may rather feel inclined to ask: "What are you going to do?" instead of "What are you going to resolve about it?" And assuming that the leading men of both parties are actuated by the most patriotic and honest purposes, but even they must admit that all their exertions to stem the tide of corruption are in vain, if they are not supported by the determination of the honest masses of the people to eradicate the abuses now afflicting the administration of many branches of our public affairs, and admit that this determination must manifest itself first in the reform of the administration of our communities. Our political parties, therefore, if they are in earnest in their professions—if their promises are not only made to the ear to be broken to the heart—cannot complain if their members refuse to receive and obey their dictates in regard to the choice of our Municipal officers; on the contrary they should so prove the sincerity of their promises, avail themselves of the opportunity to aid and co-operate with you in the selection and support of candidates at our next Municipal election whose character and ability will be a guarantee for an able, faithful, and honest City Government. The necessity of this course, and the consideration of the means to accomplish this purpose, is the intention of this meeting, for the presiding officer of which I propose the name of a gentleman who is honored in science and literature, and who, whenever the good name and fair fame of our County and City is to be promoted, is found in the foremost rank.

He then nominated Hon. William C. Bryant as Chairman, who spoke as follows:

WM. CULLEN BRYANT'S SPEECH.

Mr. Bryant said: I am glad, my fellow-citizens, to see that this occasion has brought so many of you together. It is not for any narrow party purpose that we are assembled; it is not that we may consult how to advance the interests of a popular favorite and his associates; it is not to pull down his rival and the set of men by whom his rival is supported. It is by a higher and nobler motive that you are animated—one in which all honest men necessarily concur—the wish to secure to the State, and to all the smaller communities of which the State is made up, the benefits of a just, honest, economical, and in all respects wise administration of public affairs. You could hardly come together for a more worthy purpose.

It seems an idle remark, because it is perfectly obvious, that the great mass of the people have no interest in being badly governed, but that on the contrary their interest lies in committing their public affairs to men who will manage them honestly and frugally. It is the great mass who suffer when rapacious and knavish men obtain authority and power. The robbers are the few; the robbed are the many. If the many would only come to a mutual understanding and act together, the robbed would never obtain public office, or if by accident they obtained it, would be thrust out the first opportunity. In these matters concert of action is everything, and the rogues know it. As long as the opposition to their designs is divided into many little minorities, they laugh at it. High-handed villainy takes its adversaries, one after another, by the throat, and strangles them by detail. An army scattered is an army defeated. It has passed into a proverb that in union there is strength; it is just as true that in division there is weakness, and there are none who know it better than the rogues who enrich themselves by plundering the public.

It was about forty years ago—when many who now do me the honor of listening to me were in their cradles, but I will not be certain as to the year—that the people of this City of New-York were very much dissatisfied with their Common Council, which was then composed of a single Board, the Aldermen. Some of the Aldermen had grown rich while in office. They knew sooner than other persons where new streets were to be laid out, and they purchased lands contiguous to those streets, which they afterwards sold at a large advance. One of the Aldermen owned a country-seat at the northern extremity of the Third-avenue, and through his influence a great deal of money was expended upon that thoroughfare, making it as hard as a rock, and so smooth and even that, as I heard a gentleman say at the time, there was not on its whole surface a hollow deep enough to hold a pint of water. These now seem small offenses which, compared with the crimes of Tweed and his set, almost whiten into perfect innocence; yet the people of that day were discontented, and declared that they wanted men in office who thought only of the public good. So we all went to work and elected a Common Council of honest men, in spite of Æsop and his fable. Let me name some of them: There was Stephen Allen, the very impersonation of downright honesty. There was Myndert Van Schaick, wholly incorruptible and devoted to the public interest. There was Dr. McNevin, too much taken up with science to think of making money. There was Dr. Augustine Smith, who brought to the tasks of his office large knowledge and an integrity beyond question. There were other men in the Common Council worthy by their character to be the associates of these, and there was no complaint of corruption or malversation of any sort in our Municipal affairs. We were all proud of our Common Council. It was an honor to belong to such a body of men. I doubt whether the affairs of any municipality since the time of the elder Cato have been administered by men so virtuous and intelligent as those to whom I have referred. It was only by slow gradations, and after many years, that our municipal affairs lapsed into that frightful state from which we are now seeking effectually to reclaim it.

This, fellow-citizens, was what we did forty years ago, and something like this, if by the blessing of God we can act heartily and vigorously in concert, we may do now.

LETTER FROM MR. NEILSON.

Gen. J. C. Jackson read a letter from Mr. William H. Neilson, President of the Council of Political Reform, regretting his inability to be present at the meeting. All honest citizens sincerely desiring reform in our Municipal affairs should, Mr. Neilson says, unite in one great effort to root out what remains of the corrupt leaven from every Department of our City Government. There is at this time, he says, great danger that all the advantages which we have during the last year gained may be lost, unless casting aside selfish interests and party prejudices, we throw overboard trading politicians and stand united for the common cause.

Mr. Neilson alludes in complimentary terms to the good work performed by the Bar Association; to the failure of the last Legislature in its duty to the public, the majority of whom, he says, had no sympathy with reform. Upon the Governor and the Legislature rests the responsibility of leaving in office a large number of unfaithful officials and a host of sinecurists with enormous salaries, at a heavy cost to the City. The writer implored them to send men to Albany, good men and true—men who will not sell themselves to work iniquity—who will not come each one labeled with his price, that every corrupt lobby man may read what it will cost to buy his vote.

Alluding to the Tammany thieves, Mr. Neilson says: "Without one vindictive feeling, without one emotion of revenge, I say these men should be compelled to disgorge what they have stolen and be handed over to those whose duty it is to prosecute and punish them." Respecting the selection of candidates for Judges, Mr. Neilson suggests that respect should be paid to the recommendations of the Bar Association. For Mayor and other Municipal officers no man should be supported about whom there is any doubt as to his integrity and firmness.

In conclusion Mr. Neilson says: "There never has been in the history of our City a crisis like the present, when it so much became the duty of every good citizen to forget for the moment his party attachment in national politics when coming to the election of State and City officers. We should support no man because he is the candidate of the political party to which we have heretofore adhered. Teach politicians if they hope for the votes of independent citizens they must nominate honest, capable men who can be trusted with office. In the coming contest if the friends of reform are united, and work together with concert of action, success is assured. If they are divided, and work at cross purposes, defeat is certain. Sacrifice all selfish considerations, and local prejudices and party ties, so far as may be necessary. Let nothing stand in the way of a united, vigorous effort to exterminate corruption and establish an honest and efficient City Government."

Judge Van Voorst then read the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this meeting is a pledge that we have decided to use our influence and our votes for the elevation of the best men to office in this City; that we will co-operate with all citizens and organizations of whatever political faith honestly serving the same end, either in supporting or opposing party nomination, with single regard to the merits of the candidates.

Resolved, That while the question of the proper frame of a City charter involves political principles, that ordinary Municipal elections and administration under such a charter do not involve such principles, and that hence it has happened that partisan rule in this City has been unprincipled, secret, mercenary, and without debate, and that when exposure came it was but natural that nearly all the courage and high sentiment were found without, and nearly all the dishonesty and cowardice were found within the strict party lines of Municipal politics.

Resolved, Therefore, that the strength of this reform must be sought mainly in the non-partisan sense of duty and the honest intents of the people and must be exerted through proper methods essentially irrespective of those lines of party division, so appropriate in reference to the election of governors and presidents.

Resolved, That, while we demand such frequency of elections as shall cause the will of the people to be regarded by their Municipal servants, we protest against that needless and exhausting number of elections and elective officers, which discourages and disgusts honest voters, at the same time that it gives profitable and constant employment to the demagogues and knaves who live on the brokerage of nominations and elections.

Resolved, That we demand that all City officials shall be made liable to give a prompt, public account of their acts and intentions before the judicial tribunals whenever good reason shall be shown to fear any peril to the public interest; for we hold a feeling of official responsibility to public opinion and to the Courts to be far more salutary on the part of the Municipal officer than any feeling of responsibility to the ring, to the caucus, or to the party majority.

Resolved, That whichever party or political combination may triumph in the coming election in this State, we shall hold it to be an act of political barbarism and partisan selfishness, no better in spirit and aim than the detestable legislation we have denounced, if the power thus gained shall be used to enact a new party-charter for New-York; and we protest against the Government of this City being any longer treated as a machine for strengthening party power, or as a rich dependency for raising taxes for party purposes.

The President then introduced the first speaker, Hon. Joshua M. Van Cott, who was received with loud applause. He said:

SPEECH OF MR. VAN COTT.

MR. PRESIDENT AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: I regard it as a singular compliment to be presented to this audience by the first living poet, [applause,] by the greatest translator and interpreter of the ancient poets; [applause,] by a gentleman as both sage and poet, and who unites the still higher distinction as a man, of being a patriot, always ready to stand by the interests of his country. [Applause.] It seemed to me, in listening to him, as if Homer, after having drawn the character of Nestor, who eloquently descended, soft as the fleece of descending snows, had himself stepped upon the scene with the wise eloquence of Nestor himself. [Applause.] Fellow-citizens: I heard a little time ago the prophecy that it would soon blow over. Well, it has not blown over. [Applause.] Some evil things have blown over, truly. Some who held high place and held it for plunder, have blown over and blown under. [Applause.] Some who for years were in alliance with those who were engaged in Municipal plunder have blown over; some of the benches of prostituted justice have blown over. [Loud applause.] But the flag of reform, unfurled by the political council over a year ago, has not blown over. It still floats in the air, followed by the intelligence and by the patriotism of the City of New-York. [Applause.] It is still higher advanced, leading on the great body of virtuous citizens to coming victory. [Applause.] And now, fellow-citizens, perhaps I may repeat another observation of a little time ago, "What are you going to do about it?" [Applause.] You have already attempted something and have achieved something, but nothing is done while anything remains to be accomplished. This Association has just entered upon its career, and its work is mainly yet before it. What are you, the people of New-York, going to do about it? Are you contented with the existing condition of things? This imperial City of ours—of which I can speak in language of admiration and praise—this City, in which I drew my first breath, and of which I have never ceased to be proud amid all its infirmities and misfortunes—are you satisfied with its condition now? A tax of fifty millions a year—greater than the cost of maintaining the Government of the nation during the frugal, honest Administration of John Quincy Adams. I do not complain that the City of New-York is obliged to submit to that—perhaps it can bear it; but I ask if that is not a big price to pay for a poor administration. [Applause.] Are you not entitled to a good government for fifty millions a year? Is it conceivable, having reference to the needs of the municipality, with your streets all laid out, those remaining to be paid for by local assessment not included in the large sum I have named; with a Park the admiration of all who visit it, and with a system of sewerage already established—is it conceivable, I say, that fifty millions, or the half of fifty millions is a fair sum for lighting, policing and protecting and paying the current expenses of a City lying within so small a geographical area? But no matter though the sum be fifty millions, only give us a system which shall itself be a proper, judicious system of government and an honest administration of that system, and let the money be applied in the interest of the people, for use, for ornament, and for ostentation if you please, for honorable display of the power of the City, and there are but few people who could complain of its magnitude. I know that we are not to expect a perfect condition of things, and under any system of government we shall have faults of administration; but the system of government which you now have is cumbrous, and is shaped not to subserve the real wants and interests of the City, and it requires to be altered and improved. But then, when you have got it changed and made as perfect as the wit of man can make it, it will not administer itself. You require intelligent and efficient agencies to make any system accomplish the great ends of government. I do not mean to enter upon a discussion of the defects in your existing charter. Men of all parties—I mean the intelligent patriotic citizens—agree that your system is imperfect and requires change. But you will never require such a charter as will give you good government in this City until the people of New-York are in earnest about it. It is absurd to suppose that one-half or one-third of the population of New-York are interested in maintaining bad government; they are interested in establishing and maintaining good government; but there seems to be a singular fatality in the inability of the people, who mean well and are patriotic, to harmonize their action and accomplish great public results. I am not talking now about tax-payers, real tax-payers. John Bright said in one of his grandest flights of eloquence, "Palaces, castles and manorial mansions do not make the nation. The nation in every country in the world lives in cottages." They who live in humble houses are the great body of our people who ought to be reached, and who can be, if you are wise enough to find the true method, and who can be enlisted on the side of good government. [Applause.] Fellow-citizens, you cannot do anything without faith, and it is just as possible for you to have the charter you want, and the administration you want, as it was, eighteen months since, to rid yourself of a corrupt Government and corrupt Judges. [Applause.] All social and political progress is connected with two great ideas—taxation and representation. You have representation and universal suffrage. The taxing power is unlimited under the Constitution. It goes to the extent of allowing the confiscation of the whole body of the property, and this enormity would be absolutely intolerable except that we have a popular Government, and not a law can be passed taking a dollar of your money through taxation but by your consent. [Applause.] The Legislature is yourselves. The great body of the people say they choose to grant to the Government, for the time being, the sum of fifty million dollars, to be expended, really or pretentiously, in the interests of the people. If you don't want it, why do you permit it? [Applause.] If you don't want fifty millions, why don't you make it twenty-five or ten? Jupiter told the wagoner, who appealed to him to help him get his wheel out of the rut, to put his own shoulder to the wheel. [Applause.] Under our system of government, I say it is your shame that such a condition of things exists, that has made the imperial City of New-York a reproach to the continent of America. Davy Crockett said of one polite citizen, Mr. Hone, whom he visited, that he was so polite that when he asked him to drink, he turned his back that he might not see how much he took. [Laughter.] But when Mayor Hall turns his back so as not to see what Boss Tweed takes, is not that carrying hospitality too far? [Applause.] But carry the illustration a step farther. Whose fault was it when you turned your back and did not see Mayor Hall neglect his duty? [Applause.] Did not you owe a duty? This Council of Political Reform has come to you with a platform that is unequivocal. It has told you that there should be an entire severance of Municipal politics from State and national politics. There is honest connection between them, and only the meretricious and dangerous connection of using it to corrupt the politics of the State and the nation, [applause,] and it is high time that a divorce between them should be pronounced by the high court of the people. It is for you to say whether this thing is worth the effort, or whether you have been able to live so long you will continue to endure plunder and the depredation involved in the prostituted system of politics which has so long prevailed in the City of New-York. [Loud applause.]

DORMAN B. EATON'S SPEECH.

Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, who was then introduced, said: As some of you very well know, and the residue will very soon perceive, I am no orator; but I hold myself second to no man in sincere earnestness of feeling in the cause of Municipal reform, in the pride and joy with which I have heard of your triumphs, and the confidence with which I look at the future of your efforts. As I look at the intelligent faces which constitute this audience, I am forcibly reminded of the statement of some writer who, having been introduced to some high-toned social circle, described his visit by saying that an evening there was enough to make of an ordinary fellow a gentleman. Now, if the thing were possible, it seems to me that an evening here is enough to make of an ordinary Ring politician a reformer. [Applause.] The learned gentleman who has so eloquently addressed you has omitted one part of his subject which I thought fell within his province, but which, I presume, his modesty caused him to omit. Mr. Van Cott comes fresh from a great victory in the cause of reform. [Applause.] If he had chosen, he could have spoken to you of persistent efforts to attain results which are in kind precisely those which you seek. One year ago—I believe I am right in saying one year—there were upon the Bench in this City men who were regarded as the friends and supporters of those most guilty of abuses in the administration of our Municipal affairs; Judges who were considered the friends of criminals and those guilty of fraud, and who were certainly the terror of any but the wicked. The Bar seemed to be paralyzed; it seemed to have lost its ancient courage and manhood; the best men in the profession seemed to be cowed and dismayed, the administration of justice was so uncertain, and results were likely to be fraught with so much injustice, that merchants and others would suffer almost any wrong rather than enter those Courts. Every member of the Bar who would attempt to undertake a reform of these abuses, was liable to be injured by the hostility of the Judges. But there were some men in the profession who determined that there should be a reform, and they organized; they prepared a plan for a campaign; they united their efforts to secure the necessary reform in the Judiciary; they persevered, at great expense, at great self-sacrifice, and they accomplished their work. [Applause.] Now, then, it seems to me that every merchant, every business man who has any property, ought to be grateful to the Bar for this effort—[renewed applause;]—and that every person in this City who has any capacity to take part in public affairs ought to take courage. Now, if I rightly understand the object of this meeting, it is to carry out a similar reform in every part of the City Government; to circumvent and defeat the schemes of grasping politicians. Mr. Van Cott has strongly put it to you that it is your interest, that it is your safety and your duty to undertake such a reform in this City. Now, I can add nothing to his language, but I can tell you this: that in Europe, everywhere, the condition of this City is accepted as the condition of the United States, as the exponent of our civilization. Go where you will, if you meet a man who is unfriendly to Republican institutions, he first points you to the scandal, to the frauds, to the demoralization of the City of New-York, which City, it is considered, is the chief representative of the degree of efficiency, of the degree of official honor and fidelity with which republican institutions can be administered. They even go so far as to say that whatever reform we have accomplished has been the result of violence or Providence. Now, we owe it to ourselves as men interested in the character and honor of this City; as having in our custody the great port of the Union; the great centre of newspaper enterprise; the great centre of moral influence, of fashion and that sort of enginery of social life which gives tone to American character and morality; in view of the fact that whatever we do here is done on a conspicuous stage, to carry out this reform to the end. It seems to me that enough has been said to stimulate you to take care that none but the best men are put in office at the coming elections. You know well that it is impossible to procure a repeal of the laws under which we suffer, or to procure the enactment of such laws as we need, unless you elect men you can rely upon to be faithful to you and your cause. [Applause.] Will any say that any charter enacted for the City of New-York has been satisfactory, or that any charter has embodied the principles for which you contend? I venture to think not, unless it be the charter which was passed by the Legislature last Winter and vetoed by the Governor. If it were not too late in the evening, I would undertake to give at length my views of a proper system of representation, and a proper system for the Executive Departments of this City Government. The speaker alluded to the system of voting advocated by him; that the laws had been made so complicated that none but a trained villain could understand them, and that a commission of honest and experienced men should be appointed to codify them, and the ordinances of every department, so that they might be made as clear as possible to the people. Let them select the best candidates and vote for them, and secure a system of representation like that put into the charter last Winter, under which men having their own convictions could be represented, as well as the majority. In closing, he congratulated them in having put into practical shape those principles of Municipal reform in reference to representation, which, in his judgment, lay at the base of all real improvement.

GOV. SALOMON'S REMARKS.

Gov. Salomon was next introduced, and said there was one particle of the past that he wished to speak about, and that was in reference to the action of the Legislature with regard to the City charter framed by the Committee of Seventy. That was a reform movement conceived with the intention of securing to the City of New-York a good government. It had been thought that with the sweeping election of 1871, misgovernment would certainly cease after the meeting of the Legislature—that reform Legislature elected in view of the true interests of reform. It was supposed that all the scoundrels would have been legislated out of office, and the City secure those reforms so much needed and coveted. But still a whole year had passed by and A. Oakey Hall still occupied the Mayor's chair, notwithstanding the fact that the Legislature was elected as being two-thirds reform. If the people had been allowed to vote directly for that charter, it would have been as triumphantly carried as was the election. When the speaker went to present the charter to the Assembly he found that, although three weeks had passed, not one single thing had been done to rid the City of the impure office-holders, although it had been promised that Hall should be put out of office within twenty-four hours. What was the reason for this; nothing but the corruption and faithlessness of those sent in the avowed interests of reforms. The State of New-York, seeing the condition of the City, made up the necessary two-thirds from the Republican Party, but instead of their acting in the interests of reform they divided into two factions. What had party piques to do with the City reform? Nothing honestly, everything dishonestly. The Tammany Republicans wanted their own man selected as the successor to Mayor Hall; but the other wing saw nothing better in this new move, and so came a dead-lock. Those who believed in the Reform Legislature found themselves duped. The City's only safety lay in that charter. He then recited the difficulties he experienced in getting the charter acted upon, and it was not until the people of New-York in mass-meeting assembled demanded the charter, that it passed the Assembly, and then partially under protest. The speaker then described the delays in the Senate, its final reference to the Governor for his signature and the veto. He also spoke of the sickening disappointment felt by the people when they found that the two-third Reform Legislature could not pass the charter over the Governor's veto. He next animadverted on the Governor's want of consistency in recommending in January a measure of minority representation, which he repudiated and vetoed in March. After pointing out the principal features in the charter, he called on the people, not only of the City but of the State, to elect only such true reformers this Fall as could with certainty be relied on—men who would not barter away the very principles on which they had been elected; and to mistrust every wire-pulling politician of all grades in politics. He hoped this year members would be elected who could be taught to think more of the general good and less of local legislation, with which the Legislature is too severely hampered at all times and on all occasions.

The following resolutions were offered by Hon. S. D. Moulten:

Resolved, That the following-named persons be appointed and designated as the People's Executive Committee of Municipal Reform for the City and County of New-York, whose duty it shall be, among other matters, to confer, and, as far as may be deemed safe and consistent, unite and co-operate with all or any true reform organization of the City in an effort to induce the dominant State and national parties to unite with us in selecting and putting in nomination for the Judiciary, members of Assembly and Municipal officers, such men only as are in favor of a thorough and radical reform of existing abuses in our State and Municipal Governments, and who are well and favorably known to the community for their honesty, integrity and ability.

Resolved, That it shall be the further duty of said Committee, in case of failure in all or any one particular as above, to select and put in nomination for the suffrage of the people of the City and County of New-York at the approaching election, fit and proper persons for all or any County or district office. And they shall have power to fill vacancies in their own body.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Desperation of the Democrats—Any Falsehood to Beat Hartranft.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

TITUSVILLE, Penn., Sept. 23.—The Greeleyite paper here publishes an absurd and untrue story that Senator Wilson refused to ride in the same car with Senator Cameron and Gen. Hartranft, from the meeting here to Corry. The statement has been telegraphed abroad, and much is made of it. This silly and mendacious report has just this basis of fact: By some mistake, afternoon meetings had been advertised the same day, both at this place and Corry, and at the latter place 10,000 people came out and were waiting without speakers. Mr. Wilson was informed of this fact, and so soon as he had concluded his speech here he hastened from the meeting without waiting for the rest of the company and took the regular train, hoping to save a half hour at Corry. The special train left a half hour later than the regular, and running very rapidly overtook the latter at a switch two miles below Corry and passed it. Mr. Wilson was asked by the conductor if he would change to the special train, and replied that he was so near Corry it would not pay for the trouble, and so went through by himself. It is utterly false that he would not ride with Cameron and Hartranft to this place. From Franklin he had been in the car with them, and made no objection. Moreover, at Corry and Erie he appealed to the Republicans to support the State ticket.

The Position of Gov. Curtin—Forney's Press and the Tribune—The People Against the Politicians—Hoffman to Stump Pennsylvania.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Monday, Sept. 23, 1872.

The article in Forney's Press this morning in relation to the position of Ex-Gov. Curtin, and assuring the public that he will in a few days come out with a strong letter in opposition to the Republican nominee for Governor, gives rise to some comment here, but surprises no one. It has been known for some time past that Gov. Curtin was at heart with the soreheads, though he had not the courage to come out openly and define his position. The simultaneous appearance of the Press editorial in this morning's New-York Tribune causes quite as much comment, and is even more significant than the article itself.

This is the second or third time during the last month that Forney's editorials, designed to injure the Republican State ticket, have been supplied in advance to the Tribune and have made their appearance simultaneously in its columns. Republicans in Pennsylvania are beginning to inquire what secret bond of sympathy exists between Forney's Press, which professes to support Grant, and the personal organ of Horace Greeley that should induce the former to supply the latter in advance with editorials attacking the Republican State ticket. But one answer can be given to this question, and that is that Forney, as has long been suspected, is privately in favor of the "Liberal" Republican ticket, and is doing his best, in an underhand way, to insure its success. It is this belief, soon well nigh universal, that has deprived the Press of all power to do mischief to the Republican cause, and utterly destroys its influence with the people. As to Gov. Curtin, it makes little difference now what position he takes, except so far as his future political prospects are concerned. Had he come out early against the Republican State ticket or in favor of Greeley for President, he might perhaps have carried a few votes with him, but it is now "too late." The voters of Pennsylvania have already canvassed the whole matter and made up their minds how they will act. Ninety-nine out of every hundred of them have resolved to stick to the good old Republican Party as the only guarantee of the public welfare, whether State or national. A prominent Republican, who was a brave soldier during the war, said in my hearing today: "I have been a Curtin man from the beginning and among his warmest supporters from the time he entered public life; but it was only because he represented the principles of the Republican Party. The moment he leaves that party he is no more to me than the meanest Copperhead Democrat in the State." This is the universal sentiment among the Republicans whom I have heard speak on the subject.

A well-known Republican of this State remarked, in conversation at Philadelphia, the other day, that one of the lessons which Providence was teaching the country in the present campaign was the utter insignificance of what were called great men and politicians, except in so far as they represented the principles and the party to which they belonged. This election would demonstrate, and had already demonstrated, that no man, however illustrious—neither Sumner, nor Chase, nor Trumbull, nor Schurz—and no newspaper, however widely circulated, was of the slightest consequence when they undertook to mislead the people, and to draw them away from the party whose principles they believed to be essential to the best interests of the country. Gov. Curtin may imagine that he can do in Pennsylvania what greater men than he have found it impossible to do in other States; but if he would come here among his old constituents and spend a few days he would soon discover his mistake.

I notice by the Democratic papers that Gov. Hoffman is coming to Pennsylvania to stump the State in behalf of Buckalew and the coalition. He had better stay at home and settle up his little accounts with the Tammany "Ring," whose serviceable tool he has been for the last four years. There must be something due him yet as the ornamental figurehead of that gang of thieves.

The people of Pennsylvania are better acquainted with his career as Governor of New-York than he imagines, and his arguments in support of Greeley for President, who was among the leading apologists of the Ring, will not be likely to weigh heavily with his hearers. His German name will not save him, for even the Dutchmen of Berks County, benighted Democrats as they are, have an old-fashioned liking for honest men who will not tolerate public thieves or their tools and apologists.

THE OIL PRODUCERS.

Progress of the Movement to Shut All Wells for Thirty Days—Probability of its Going Into Effect.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

OIL CITY, Penn., Sept. 23.—The movement of the Associations of Oil Producers, to shut down all pumping wells and stop the whole production of oil in the country for thirty days, is fast gaining ground, and it is likely that by a week from today few, if any, wells in all the oil region will be in operation. There was a meeting of the Oil City Association here today, and a committee was appointed to make an examination and report next Friday how much of the total production can be stopped. Some of those most anxious in the matter pledged themselves at once, and will shut down to-night, to remain shut if the movement becomes general. Several hundred wells in several districts are all already stopped under the above conditions.

The total production of oil in this country is now about 18,000 barrels per day, and there are now above 900,000 barrels in stock. On account of this immense surplus the producers are in the power of the refiners and exporters, who are able to keep the price of crude oil down to what the producers regard as a ruinous rate. It is expected by stopping production for thirty days the stock on hand will be reduced to four or five hundred thousand barrels, and some favor a suspension of production for sixty days, which would reduce it to 200,000. The productiveness of the wells would not be over 1,000 barrels per day on resuming, and the price of crude oil, it is calculated, would go up to $5 per barrel, or nearly double the present rates. The only reason why the suspension of production will not certainly be general in a few days, is that a few producers may refuse to unite in the movement, and this will induce others to keep working, because they say they will not shut down for the benefit of the few, if any, who will continue.

Move On!

What is the Committee of Seventy waiting for? Why not resume active operations at once by organizing its committees with all the new and energetic elements they can secure? It is clear that some changes are necessary to meet the present condition of affairs. Good management and organization must be relied upon to make up for the great excitement of last Fall. The good work should be pushed forward without a moment's delay.

REMINISCENCES OF AN OLD MAN.

After A. B. DURAND, N. A.
A MAGNIFICENT NEW CHROMO
BY

Mr. Durand is the oldest of our American artists, and one of the most poetical withal. This latter quality is shown to a remarkable degree in the picture under consideration, which is one of his earlier productions. A grove of trees on the left, a stream gliding through it, a cow-pasture, a farm-house on the right, the village with its church-spire, and finally, a range of blue hills in the distance. These are the elements that make up the scene upon which the artist unfolds the whole drama of life. Children are playing on the meadows, the boys with ball and bat, the girls swinging in the trees, lovers are wooing in the shady grove, the farmers are busy reaping and garnering their harvest, and under the shadows of a mighty oak sits an old man with silvery locks, contemplating the spectacle before him, which is well fitted, indeed, to call up the reminiscences of a life-time.

Size, 32½x21¾, (the largest so far published by us.)

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The auctions held at the Exchange, yesterday, Monday, Sept. 23, were of unusual interest for the first business day of the week, and all advertised were consummated. The attendance was large and the price realized for some of the property sold good, particularly that for the improved lots on One Hundred and Twenty-second-street. The result of the day's business will have a beneficial effect upon the market. The following is a review of the transactions:

Joseph McGuire, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of W. W. Goodrich, Esq., referee, sold the four-story and basement brick and stone front house situate on the east side of Fifth-avenue, 27 feet 5 inches south of Sixty-third-street, for $82,528, its purchaser being B. P. Fairchild. The lot is in size 23 by 100, and a very valuable one, but the house is peculiar, being built in Gothic style and not particularly attractive. It is well known to frequenters of Central Park, having been termed the "architect's folly," but as it has never been considered a handsome residence, and considerable expense would be required to change it, this fact probably detracted from the value of the lot, which is worth about as much at present prices as the entire premises sold for. The property was sold under a second mortgage amounting to about $60,000, and subject to a first mortgage on the lot, with interest amounting to $31,528. A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., also, under a Supreme Court foreclosure order, Levi A. Fuller, Esq., referee, disposed of two four-story brick tenement-houses (with stores) and lots, located on the east side of Third-avenue, between One Hundred and Seventh and One Hundred and Eighth streets, for $13,000 each, both purchased by Joseph Koch. The lots are in size each 17.8 by 100, and the houses rent for about $2,000 each per annum.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. concluded the day's business with another Supreme Court sale, under the direction of Chas. M. Hildreth, Esq., referee, of four lots, in size each 25 by 90.11, situate on the south side of West One Hundred and Twenty-second-street, 100 feet west of Tenth-avenue, which were sold to Bernard Smythe, Receiver of Taxes, for $2,950 apiece—a very fair figure. Nothing further worthy of note occurred, and on the street nothing of special interest in the way of private transactions was reported.

For today, at the Exchange, a large number of legal sales are announced, a full list of which was published yesterday. V. K. Stevenson & Son will also offer at public auction a desirable first-class residence on Seventy-first-street, between Ninth-avenue and the Grand Boulevard. Today also the great Whitestone, Long Island, auction, in charge of Jere. Johnson, Jr., takes place on the property at 12½ P. M., a very attractive sale and one worthy success. Special train via. James-slip and Thirty-fourth-street Ferries at 11 o'clock. In addition, today, at Jersey City, N. J., Lewis E. Wood will offer at auction, by order of executors, a very desirable property, 139 lots in all, belonging to the Slaight estate. The sale takes place on the ground at 1½ P. M. Excursion train from foot of Liberty-street at 1 o'clock. It is to be hoped that all these various transactions will be attended with favorable results.

The mountain farm located on Hasberg Mountain, thirty-five miles from Newark, N. J., advertised through our business columns to be sold at auction last week, was not disposed of, although $9,000 was offered for the same. The property, as will be seen by a notice in another place, will now be subdivided and sold in villa plots, at private sale.

A BEAUTIFUL PLOT OF LAND AT
WHITESTONE, L. I.,

Has just been cut into LOTS by AUG. F. WEEKES, Esq., late President of the J. L. Mott Iron Works, and

WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION
BY
JERE. JOHNSON, Jr., Sept. 24, 1872.

Money cannot be invested at greater profit than by purchasing some of these lots.
People of moderate means can live at Whitestone more pleasantly, more happily, and at less cost, than in the City.

Forty-one trains daily, from 10 minutes before 6 A. M. to 15 minutes past 12, midnight. Running time to Hunter's Point, 26 and 30 minutes. Comfortable travel; elegant cars; every patent contrivance for comfort; foot-warmer under every seat; Miller's platforms, buffers, steam brakes; steel rails, &c. As convenient and accessible to the City Hall as 60th-st., New-York. Commutation, 6½ cents per trip, between Whitestone and Hunter's Point. A FREE TICKET FOR ONE YEAR given to each house, costing $2,000, built before next May.

Whitestone is a charming place to live in; its residents can come in to business, to shop, concert, theatre, calls, or church, without any trouble; first-rate society; it is not at all "lonesome;" beautiful scenery, boating, driving, pure air, water, and milk; living cheaper than in the City; in short, CITY COMFORTS WITH COUNTRY PLEASURES. No healthier place can be found; high ground, well drained; cool in Summer, mild in Winter. Churches and schools. Water will soon be introduced; the Trustees are maturing plans for it; the bill for it has passed the Legislature. The village taxes are limited, by charter, to ½ of one per cent. A pretty, substantial house of five to seven rooms, much better than a flat or part of a house, can be built by paying in installments. Larger houses in proportion. Capitalists are ready to lend money for it. The Whitestone Savings Bank has money to lend on Bond and Mortgage.

THE GROWTH OF WHITESTONE IS CERTAIN; it has valuable water-front and anchorage; the removal of the Hell Gate obstructions will make its values triple; it is a railroad centre, and the most convenient and pleasant suburban home near the City.

Terms for these Lots, 10 per cent. cash on day of sale; 30 per cent. on Oct. 24, balance on mortgage 5 years, or FIVE PER CENT. OFF THE MORTGAGE FOR CASH.

Call on JERE. JOHNSON, JR., No. 25 Nassau-st., or at the office of Mr. Weekes' Attorney, Geo. W. Van Siclen, Esq., No. 133 Nassau-st., and get maps and passes.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE.

THE
AND CANADA SOUTHERN
First Mortgage Sinking Fund 30 Years
SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

Interest Payable April and October at the Union Trust Company,
AT 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST.

This road is the Western link in the new AIR LINE from BUFFALO to CHICAGO and runs from the Detroit River to Chicago in nearly a straight line.

The road is a part of the same line as the Canada Southern and is being built by the same men, viz.: Milton Courtright, John F. Tracy, David Dows, Wm. L. Scott, Henry Farnam, R. A. Forsyth, Jno. M. Burke, M. L. Sykes, Jr., all Directors either in the Chicago and North-west or the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; George Opdyke, of the Midland Road; Sidney Dillon, Daniel Drew, John Ross, David Stewart, Samuel J. Tilden, Kenyon Cox, and other prominent railroad men.

The Road, like the Canada Southern, will have steel rails (60 pounds to the yard) throughout; is STRAIGHT AND LEVEL, MUCH SHORTER, and can be run with greater speed and safety than any other road connecting with Buffalo and Chicago.

The builders of the road control enough of its Chicago feeders to obtain for it a profitable business from the start, having projected the line to accommodate existing business, and having seen the necessity for another trunk line between Chicago and the Atlantic sea-board, located expressly with the view of obtaining the cheapest transportation practicable. Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the Road, and it will be finished at the earliest practicable period.

The branch lines will make the shortest connections between Chicago and Toledo, and Chicago and Detroit, as well as between all these points and Buffalo.

The Canada Southern Bonds, in every particular like these, were eagerly taken, the last of them several weeks ago, by the best class of investors, and were on the market a shorter time than any other railroad loan of like amount for years past.

The proceeds of these bonds will complete the entire line, and we recommend them with the same confidence as we did the Canada Southern, and regard them as in every way a choice security.

TWENTY PER CENT. INVESTMENT.

THE AMERICAN BRIDGE CO.,
OF CHICAGO, ILL.,
L. B. BOOMER, of Chicago, President.
(ORGANIZED AUG. 1, 1870.)
AUTHORIZED CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
The Subscription Books will Positively Close Oct. 1, 1872.

The whole amount of the authorized Capital Stock of this Company not having been issued, the balance will be issued to subscribers at par, payment for same to be made in four installments of 25 per cent. each, viz.:

Twenty-five per cent. July 15, 25 per cent. Aug. 1, 25 per cent. Sept. 1, and 25 per cent. Oct. 1, 1872. Past due installments to be paid with interest at the time of subscription.

Books now open at the office of the undersigned will be positively closed at 3 P. M., Oct. 1, 1872.

The total amount of full-paid stock issued at this time is $414,700, and on this basis the Company shows a present surplus of $136,280 97, and is now doing a flourishing business. Over 1,000 men are almost constantly employed in their extensive works, and they now have on hand $2,500,000 of work for various railroads in the United States, (among which may be mentioned the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Chicago and North-western, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Michigan Central, Missouri Pacific, &c., &c.,) and the net profit on this work alone will be over $400,000. The Company is now offered work to the amount of more than $6,000,000, including some of the largest bridges ever built in this country; to accept of which and further business necessitates a larger working capital, as immense amounts of material have to be kept constantly on hand, and the Company are frequently obliged to receive in part payment for their work railroad and other bonds, which are perfectly good securities, but not always immediately marketable.

The THIRTY ACRES of land in Chicago belonging to the Company, and on which their extensive machine and other shops are situated, is now worth nearly $300,000, and prominent real estate dealers say it will be worth in six years, at least $1,000,000—an amount equal to the whole proposed capital.

The career of the AMERICAN BRIDGE COMPANY, though brief, has already fully demonstrated the profitableness of the enterprise. The Company has constructed since its organization, and up to the 31st of December, 1871, a total of 38,137 feet of bridges, 18 turning-tables and 16 iron roofs, and pneumatic and screw pile substructures, costing $3,400,000, and have facilities for the construction of pneumatic piles unsurpassed by any Company in the country, and a capacity for the construction of at least 150 feet of bridges for every working day in the year.

The iron railroad and highway bridge at Leavenworth, of three spans of 340 feet each, and the Union Pacific Bridge across the Missouri River, of eleven spans of 250 feet each, were constructed by this Company.

The net profit arising from this business, as shown by the books of the Company, up to the 31st of March, 1872, was the sum of $373,482 14, or at the rate of $224,089 28 per annum, being over 50 per cent. upon the capital stock then outstanding. With the proposed new structures, machinery, &c., the Company will have much greater capacity, and the proceeds of the increased issue of stock will enable them to buy material for cash, thereby making a saving of from $50,000 to $75,000 per year.

The Company can undoubtedly, on above basis, make dividends of from 20 to 25 per cent. per annum on the full amount of capital, $1,000,000, with a fair prospect of a considerable increase.

The undersigned are prepared to give to those inquiring the fullest details and entire satisfaction regarding the reliability of the Company's statements, and the unquestioned integrity and ability of its officers.

We confidently commend to capitalists the above as an investment worthy their attention.

These Bonds, representing an unusually light Mortgage upon a Finished Railway, fully Equipped, extending centrally through one of the Richest and most Populous States of the Union, remarkable for the great success of its different Railways, offer unusual inducements to the investor seeking a PROFITABLE AND SAFE SECURITY.

The holder of this Bond has the right to vote at all elections. By the terms of a Traffic Guarantee Contract with the well-known CLEVELAND, COLUMBUS, CINCINNATI, AND INDIANAPOLIS RAILWAY, (four of whose Directors, including the President and Vice-President, are also DIRECTORS IN THE SPRINGFIELD AND ILLINOIS SOUTH-EASTERN RAILWAY,) a large number of these Bonds will be purchased by lot semi-annually at Par and accrued interest, giving the fortunate holders Eleven per cent. Profit on their investment, besides nearly nine per cent. interest.

We respectfully invite the attention of all capitalists to this security, as a particularly safe and desirable one.

FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

HAVING 50 YEARS TO RUN, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN UNITED STATES GOLD COIN, "not inferior to the present standard." Interest payable semi-annually in New-York, on the 1st day of June and December, and guaranteed jointly and severally by

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Company,
The Pennsylvania Company, and
The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company,

The road is entirely completed and in operation, and extends from Fort Wayne, Indiana, to Richmond, 90 miles in the State of Indiana, and connects the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway, the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad, and the whole system of roads under the control of the Pennsylvania Company in Indiana and Michigan, with the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad to Cincinnati and Southern Ohio and Indiana. The road is leased for 99 years to the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company, and operated by it for the joint account of the guarantors, and by a contract entered into between the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company, the Pennsylvania Company, lessees of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway, and the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad Company, for reciprocal interchange of business; all these Companies agree to throw all their freight and passenger traffic which may be appropriately done over this road, thus insuring it, from the outset, a large volume of business. The holders of these Bonds are thus trebly secured:

First—By a first mortgage on a finished road now in full operation.

Secondly—By a contract for interchange of business with three prosperous and powerful corporations, controlling in its favor a vast amount of business.

Thirdly—By the direct and absolute guarantee of the interest, jointly and severally, by ENDORSEMENT ON THE BONDS by the above-mentioned three Companies.

The whole issue of the Bonds is $1,800,000, or $20,000 per mile, and but a limited amount are now offered to investors. Price, 92 1-2 and Interest. Circulars and information furnished by

FORRESTER DISCHARGED

Utter Failure of the Prosecution to Establish His Guilt.

District-Attorney Garvin Admits he has no Proof Against Him—An Idea of the Workings of the Detective System.

As was anticipated from the first in the reports of the TIMES, the prosecution in the case of William Forrester, charged with the murder of Mr. Benjamin Nathan, resulted in an utter failure yesterday. It broke down in the most ludicrous manner, and the detective force, more especially Detective Farley, who has been conspicuous by his assertions that Forrester was guilty, left the Court-room irreparably damaged as far as their popular reputation for truth and smartness is concerned. Before entering on the details of yesterday's proceedings it is well to recall the testimony of Miss Anna Keenan, a music teacher, of Fort Lee, who testified that at about 8½ o'clock on the evening preceding the murder, she saw Forrester enter Mr. Nathan's house. Her evidence so positive, although she was of extremely defective sight, was strong at the time of its rendering, but soon became worthless under a strong scrutiny, when it became known to the defense that she had seen a man enter Nathan's house at the time mentioned, but that man, instead of being Forrester, was the private watchman who testified at the inquest before Coroner Young. Then again Capt. Hedden's witness, George Keisey, the chemist, who saw a man with shirt covered with blood come through Washington Parade Ground on the morning of the murder, refused to swear positively that Forrester was the man, although he said Forrester was like the man in appearance. In this regard, the prosecution had no case, and the desperate effort made by the Police authorities to persuade the public that they had some little ability, failed miserably and egregiously. Long before 11 o'clock, it was understood that Judge Garvin, disgusted with the affair, would abandon the case, and such proved to be the fact. The loungers around the Tombs were full of the news, even the boot-blacks seemed more enlightened than ordinary respectable citizens regarding it, and under such curious auspices, William Forrester was again brought to the bar, to answer a charge of murder, which, in mockery of justice, had been preferred against him. His counsel, Messrs. Howe and Hummel, were by his side, and Judge Garvin appeared for the prosecution. Superintendent Kelso was conspicuous by his absence. The only representatives of the detective force present were Capt. Irving and Detective Farley. The conduct of the latter, in New-Orleans, can be learned from a statement of Mr. John Connors, of Girod-street, published in the TIMES of Sunday last. About 11¼ o'clock Justice Dowling, who seemed uneasy and agitated, said, "I am ready to proceed with this examination." Mr. Howe, rising from beside Forrester, said, "We are ready, also." At this District-Attorney Garvin rose and said: "May it please your Honor, in regard to this case, whether it should be continued, or whether its course should end here, is a question which I do not essay to answer, but which I leave to the decision of the Court. The prosecution have established that Mr. Nathan died, and that his death was a foul and barbarous murder, and have also shown by the last witness examined that the prisoner Forrester entered Mr. Nathan's house the night of the murder. The first two assertions, of course, are conceded by the defense to be true; the last is relied on by the prosecution as having been proved. I have no doubt that other witnesses would testify similarly, but those witnesses the prosecution cannot, under pledges of secrecy, place upon the stand. However great the proof may be, however complete to establish morally the guilt of the prisoner, and conclusively prove his presence in this City at the date of this murder, this horrid butchery, I must admit, I frankly state, that they fall very far short of the proof necessary to secure his conviction before a petit jury. The authorities have done their utmost to reach a definite conclusion of guilt or innocence; they have failed to prove the former, and do not believe in the latter. Under the circumstances, I presume that when discharged, the prisoner will be taken to the State Prison at Joliet, Ill., to serve out a term of thirteen years, from which he escaped. At any time, should further evidence be brought to light, he can be brought from there to answer it, for the great crime of murder knows no bar of limitation in the law."

The effect of this speech was plain to be seen. It was intended to delude the public that the Police, despite their utter failure, had really some evidence which they did not desire to make public, for what are commonly, though illusively termed diplomatic reasons. It was too transparent, and Counsellor Howe at once rose, and by a few pointed truths, fairly riddled the District-Attorney's plausibly erected edifice. He said: "It is a matter of no undue surprise to me, this sudden and generally unexpected move of the prosecution. To my mind it is but a corroboration, a vouching of Forrester's statement, made from the moment of his arrest, that he was innocent of this terrible and barbarous crime. I have a right, in his behalf, to say a few words in defense of this young man. It is true he is a thief, equally true he has served terms of imprisonment, as true again that he is one of society's outlaws, but equally as true that his hand has never been stained with murder. The District-Attorney alludes to the evidence. What is the evidence? A woman, near sighted, almost blind, swears to tints and shades of delicate color, after a lapse of two years. One of the leading papers, the TIMES, has alluded to this point, and after reading the article in that journal, just to both sides, and critical in the interest of the public, every man of common sense, even of average intellect, would pronounce the woman's evidence worthless. The District-Attorney knows this, he knows the character of the evidence he has offered, and I know that the prisoner regrets this termination of the trial, because he can indisputably prove he was a thousand miles away from this City at the time of the commission of the murder. As to his future disposition, he will, of course, be taken to his life-long prison in Illinois."

This seemed to puzzle Justice Dowling, and he, after some deliberation, remarked that, on consultation with District-Attorney Garvin, he had adopted the District-Attorney's view of the case. Although the evidence was not strong enough to hold the prisoner, he (Justice Dowling) was morally certain that Forrester was in this City at the date of the murder and was concerned in the crime. He would, however, be compelled to dismiss the charge and remand the prisoner until the arrival of a requisition from the State of Illinois. Justice Dowling told Capt. Irving to proceed to the Central office and bring the requisition to Court at once. Warden A. W. Edwards, of the State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ills., who arrived in this City, was present in Court, waiting production of the requisition, to assume charge of the prisoner. But Forrester's counsel, while Capt. Irving was absent from Court, obtained a writ of habeas corpus, returnable before Judge Leonard, in the Supreme Court, on Friday morning next at 11 o'clock. Until that time Forrester will be kept in close confinement at the Tombs.

What Forrester Says.

After the serving of the writ of habeas corpus on Warden Finlay, Forrester was locked up in one of the "condemned cells" of the prison. A TIMES reporter saw him there. Forrester, who is not by any means a vulgar ruffian, as many persons suppose him to be, but on the contrary, a rather quiet and well-educated man of bad character and tendencies, did not seem in the least downcast. On being asked what he thought of the examination, he said he had expected the result from the beginning, as he knew the prosecution could never bring any testimony except that of perjured witnesses against him. Of course, the public would understand that a man of his reputation found it infinitely more difficult to disprove a false charge than would a man of spotless character, because ordinarily his associates were naturally of the same stamp as himself. But in this case Forrester said that his star was in the ascendant, for he was able to prove his innocence by two officers of justice, who, on the night after the Nathan murder, saw him standing on the corner of Gravier and Ptchapitoula streets, New-Orleans.

Forrester said that we did not feel the necessity, now that the prosecution had been abandoned, of divulging the names of the officers. In regard to his own career, Forrester evinced no hesitancy in answering questions, in every instance save one (the robbery of Rockafellars' Bank at Wilkesbarre, Penn.) He alluded to the report of his wife having been an inmate of a disreputable house in Memphis, and pronounced it a lie. Forrester also stated that during his sojourn in the City he was constantly in the Fourth Ward, passing under the name of Ralph Winslow, and that he could have walked into Police Head-quarters on pretended business, with impunity, as not a single detective there knew him. Only two detectives in the City knew him, and they were not connected with Central Office. He was sorry that the examination had terminated as it had, for he had hopes not only of his acquittal, but that something further would be developed, which, Forrester mysteriously added, may yet be. Forrester smiled and said, "We all have curious theories and opinions about this murder, and I have mine. I hope time will bring out the truth. I naturally feel down-hearted at the prospect of solitary confinement for thirteen years but I suppose what must be will be. I have not seen my wife, do not expect to, and am not desirous of seeing her, for the reason such a meeting would pain both myself and her. I am glad you came to see me, and hope you will say in your paper what I have told you, not a word more or less."

THE ASSISTANT ALDERMEN.

The Mission-Place Property—Street Paving—The Corporation Attorney and the City Treasury.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen met yesterday. The Chairman announced that he had appointed Mr. Pinckney on the Finance Committee, in place of Mr. Hartt, deceased.

Assistant Alderman Stacom introduced a resolution directing the Corporation Counsel to commence proceedings against the parties who have taken possession of Mission-place between Centre and Baxter streets. The resolution was adopted.

Assistant Alderman Geis, as Chairman of the Committee on Law, reported in favor of the following resolution:

That all streets, avenues, lanes, and all public places, which have been regulated, graded, sewered, and paved at the expense of the property-owners of the property benefited thereby, shall not again be assessed for any improvement, but all such assessments, charges, and expenses for such further improvement shall be at the expense of the City at large.

Assistant Alderman Connor referred to the action of Controller Green on Saturday, in refusing to be present at the opening of bids for paving.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Assistant Alderman Geis then called up the following resolution, which laid over since the last meeting:

That the Controller be and he is hereby directed to make a report to this Board of the amount of moneys paid into the City Treasury (for the benefit thereof, or to the sinking fund) by the Corporation Attorney from the commencement of the fiscal year, in 1868, to the end of the last fiscal year, in 1872; the report to give in detail the amounts received, and for what purpose; also the expense attached to the collection of the same.

Assistant Alderman Kraus moved as an amendment, that the investigation should take in from the year 1856.

Assistant Alderman Robinson moved, as a further amendment, that the investigation take from 1831.

Assistant Alderman Connor said it was evident that the gentlemen who proposed these amendments intended merely to prevent the investigation. He would not, however, object to it if it was the sense of the Board that the inquiry commence at 1831, because then an opportunity would be given the public of making comparisons between the administration of the present incumbent of the Corporation Attorney's office and those of his predecessors. Assistant Alderman Geis could not see why the resolution should meet with any opposition. It merely called for a report, and he would tell the gentlemen that if reports had been in order in other days, the public would never have allowed those gigantic fraud to have been perpetrated, of which Messrs. Tweed & Co. are the heroes. He did not call for this inquiry, because, as has been suggested by one member, (Stacom,) he was snubbed at the Corporation Attorney's office. It was not so; no such petty influence actuated him. On the contrary, he had always been treated with the greatest consideration—as a gentleman. No harm can come of an inquiry; much good can. He hoped the motion would prevail.

Assistant Alderman Galvin opposed the resolution. These calls for investigation, so frequently made, amounted to nothing but immense expense of printing, &c., to the City. This he feared would be the end of the one now called for.

A good deal of desultory discussion here followed, and frequent motions to refer, to amend, to substitute, &c., were made. Finally, a division being taken on the original resolution, it was lost by a vote of 10 to 9. The ten voting in the negative were: Foley, Stacom, O'Brien, Kraus, Robinson, Costelloe, Healy, Cumisky, McDonald, Littlefield.

The Board soon after adjourned.

Harlem Court-House Investigation—Further Testimony.

The investigation by the Senate Committee into the alleged fraud committed in the construction of the Ninth District Court-house, was resumed yesterday at the City Hall, in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen. The inquiry was conducted by Mr. C. H. Kitchell, counsel for the Committee, and W. H. Trull, of the firm of Devlin & Trull, appeared for Henry W. Genet, who was also present.

Robert G. Hatfield, of No. 31 Pine-street, recalled by Mr. Kitchell, testified that in examining the building he saw no completed rooms; he visited the office, but did not observe any safes; witness identified the document presented as an exact copy of the measurements and estimates made by him while examining the premises; the man in charge of the work assisted him in the inspection of the material and work performed; was not certain as to his name, but thought it was McDermot; Mr. Scallon at one time assisted in showing the material lying on the dock, and which consisted principally of blue-stone; saw no lumber on the dock.

The counsel for Mr. Genet waived the right to cross-examine, but said he would call Mr. Hatfield as a witness if he should be wanted.

Albert S. Winant was next sworn, and testified that he had been employed in the Surrogate's office since January, 1870; sold no property of his own to the City, but acted for Mr. Fairchild in the sale of six lots at Harlem; took the deed in his own name, and transferred the property to the City for $24,000; the money was handed over to Mr. Fairchild; was not aware what the land cost Mr. Fairchild, who lives at No. 343 West Fifty-seventh-street; witness had had a conversation with Mr. Fairchild about the property some time prior to its transfer; knew of no division of the money paid for the property, and had no interest in it himself; the warrant and check were made out in the name of witness; did not remember the purpose for which the property was purchased by the City; might have heard at the time, but took no particular notice so as to remember the fact; was not certain whether the property was located on One Hundred and Twenty-sixth-street or One Hundred and Twenty-eighth-street; it might have been One Hundred and Fortieth-street so far as he knew; it was, he believed, somewhere in that neighborhood; did not search the title, nor do any other act appertaining to ownership.

After some little discussion between the counsel as to the further course of procedure, the investigation was adjourned until Wednesday next.

The Jackson-Street Murder—Examination by Deputy Coroner Beach.

Dr. Wooster Beach yesterday made a post-mortem examination of the remains of Joseph Burnett, the Swedish stevedore, who was stabbed in the left breast and almost instantly killed by Timothy Landers, his brother-in-law, during a fracas on Sunday evening at No. 76 Jackson-street. The Doctor found that the blade of the scissors with which Burnett had been stabbed had penetrated the heart. Coroner Herrman has taken charge of the case, and will hold an inquest on Thursday. Mrs. Burnett, the wife of deceased and the sister of the prisoner, identified the latter most positively as the man who stabbed her husband. Garrett Landers, the brother of the prisoner, left this City yesterday for Elmira.

Reform in the Brooklyn Controller's Office.

Controller Schroeder, of Brooklyn, yesterday submitted to the Board of Aldermen the draft of an ordinance, the object of which is to check the power of the Controller to issue and sell an unlimited amount of bonds, without rendering an account of such sales to anybody, and to prevent him from keeping in his possession, for an unlimited period of time, moneys which should be paid over directly and immediately, when bonds are sold, to the Treasurer of the city.

The ordinance provides for the proper advertising, opening and registering of all proposals for City loans, furnishing the Treasurer with a certified statement of all awards, and that all moneys in settlement of such awards be paid to the Treasurer. The ordinance further provides that no such bonds or stock certificates for loans to the Corporation shall be signed or countersigned by the Controller and Mayor or either of them, unless there shall be presented with them the receipt of the City Treasurer; and all such receipts shall be indorsed by said officers.

The ordinance was adopted.

Reception to the Railroad Ticket Agents.

The railroad ticket agents, who for the past few days have been in session at the St. Nicholas Hotel, were entertained yesterday by the owners of the Anchor line of steamers on board the steam-ship California. About fifty gentlemen responded to the invitation, and after inspecting the vessel sat down to lunch in the saloon. Speeches were made by Mr. Conerly, the manager of the line, and Messrs. Charlton, Barnes, Douglas, Johnson, Powell and others. The healths of the proprietors were drank. The agents will remain in session today and to-morrow, and the question of fares for emigrant passengers will be discussed at some length.

Yesterday morning the following delegates to the Steam Vessel Owners' Convention at Cleveland, Ohio, left this City: Maine—Capt. J. B. Coyle, Henry Fox, Capt. C. B. Sandford. Vermont—L. J. N. Stark. Massachusetts—David Whiton, F. W. Nickerson. Rhode Island—B. Buffum, Z. Williams. Connecticut—G. H. Reynolds, Frederick Peck, A. F. Smith. New-York—C. H. Delamater, L. M. Ferris, Jr., C. P. Smith, C. Folger, Capt. W. C. Smith.

It is supposed that nine-tenths of the steamboat interest of the country will be represented at the Convention.

The Report of the Treasury Inspectors—Johnson's Defalcation.

The Treasury officers who were sent from Washington to investigate the condition of the affairs of the Sub-Treasury have returned to Washington and have rendered their report to the proper authorities. The book accounts were all found correct with the exception of those kept by Johnson. Johnson, some time ago, began speculating in stocks, and, meeting with losses, attempted to retrieve them by using the Government funds. For this purpose he appropriated $185,000, that being the exact amount of his defalcation. The examination showed that he did not take stamps, but money derived from their sale, and then intentionally neglected to make any entry for it in his books, which would make it appear that he had on hand a larger quantity of stamps than was actually the case.

The brokers through whom Johnson operated have informed the Department fully as to his operations and the amount of money he deposited with them at various periods. The examination showed that Gen. Hillhouse had placed around Johnson the usual safeguards, and that it was not through negligence or want of checks upon Johnson that the defalcation occurred, and that no blame can attach to the Sub-Treasurer.

Street-Paving—Is the Belgian Block a Special Pavement?

Bids for paving with Belgian pavement the following streets were to have been opened yesterday at the Department of Public Works, before Commissioner Van Nort and Controller Green: Twenty-third-street, from Third-avenue to East River; Thirty-seventh-street, from Seventh-avenue to North River; Thirty-first-street, from Fourth to Fifth-avenue; University-place, from Waverley-place to Eighth-street; Fifty-fifth-street, from Seventh-avenue to Broadway; Twenty-fifth-street, from Third-avenue to East River; Forty-first-street, from Eighth to Tenth-avenue; Sixth-street, from Third-avenue to Avenue B; First-avenue, from Fourteenth to Thirty-sixth-street. The opening of proposals for this work was postponed from Friday last. Controller Green being in doubt as to whether the "patent or special pavements" forbidden by chapter 363, laws of 1870, to be laid down in any streets which have heretofore been paved, without the consent of two-thirds of the property-owners, was meant to include the Belgian blocks. He sent a note to Corporation Counsel O'Gorman asking for an opinion in the matter, but no answer having been received yesterday, Mr. Green sent word to Mr. Van Nort that if petitions in favor of the work had been received from residents of the localities affected he would wait upon the Commissioner, the law requiring the Controller's presence at the opening of the bids. Mr. Van Nort replied that none had been received, and the opening was therefore postponed until to-morrow at noon.

Mr. Van Nort has been advised by Mr. O'Gorman to proceed in the matter, the Common Council having authorized the paving of the streets specified. The Commissioner states that he does not regard the Belgian blocks, which are so largely used all over the City, as a special pavement.

A committee of property-owners from the Seventeenth Ward called on Controller Green, yesterday, to protest against the paving of Fourth and Fifth streets, from Bowery to Mangin-street, with Robins' preserved wood pavement. The Controller referred the deputation to the Department of Public Works.

Pay of City Officers.

Application was made yesterday to Judge Leonard, in Supreme Court, Chambers, that the members of the Board of Audit be punished for contempt, for having failed to audit and allow the claim of one Michael J. Maloney for over $500. It appeared that Maloney had been employed in the County Bureau at a salary of $250 per month, two months of his time remaining unpaid. A mandamus had been issued by the Court directing the Board of Audit to "audit and allow" the claim, and, since notice of the present application had been given, the Board had "audited and allowed" the claim at the sum of $294 35. This, it was contended by Maloney's counsel, was not a compliance with the terms of the mandamus; that the Board was bound to audit the claim at the contract rate, which was $250 per month.

Judge Leonard said, in order to bring the Board of Audit into contempt, it was necessary the mandamus should have directed it to audit the claims at a fixed amount, which had not been done in this instance. The motion was therefore denied.

A splendid day and an excellent track paved the way for two fine contests which took place at Fleetwood Park yesterday, and which drew to the scene a fair attendance of turfmen. Six heats were trotted, and Lady Byron proved the victor. The second race was a match for $200 between Tom Wonder and Detective, and after a hard-fought contest of five heats was won by Tom Wonder. The third race on the programme was a match for $500, between Brown George and Sure Foot, but the latter paid forfeit.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—SEPT. 23.

Before Judge Shea.

JURISDICTION OF THE COMMON PLEAS OVER THE MARINE COURT.

Richardson vs. Davidson.—This case, which is a suit on a promissory note, was called on for trial today. Counsel for the defendant called the attention of the Court to the fact that an appeal was now pending at the General Term of the Court of Common Pleas, from an order of the same Court at Special Term, deciding that the original appeal from the Marine Court to the Common Pleas was improperly taken, and claimed that the case, therefore, was properly in the Court of Common Pleas.

Judge Shea was inclined to regard the case as still being in the Marine Court, and was proceeding to direct that it be sent before Judge Spaulding for trial, when counsel for the defense produced an order from Chief-Justice Daly, of the Court of Common Pleas, staying all proceedings in the case in the Marine Court, pending a decision of the appeal in the General Term of the Common Pleas. This stay, Judge Shea said, he did not regard as binding, the Marine Court being now a Court of record, and not subject to the control of any Court save the Supreme, but suggested to counsel for plaintiff that he move before Chief-Justice Daly to have the order set aside.

NOTICE TO THE BAR.

Report of Judges upon GILT and BRONZE CHANDELIERS, GLASS CHANDELIERS, and BRONZES, exhibited by MITCHELL, VANCE & CO.:
"We fully agree that the bronze fixtures are superior in artistic design, workmanship and finish to any made in this country, and exceeding any imported from the French, are the best productions of the country. The glass chandeliers are equal if not superior to the celebrated Osler manufacture, (English,) which have been heretofore acknowledged the best in the world. The glass is of unusual whiteness. They rank A1.
